House Approves Tax Measure Conference Report

GEORGE ATTACKS COMPROMISE BILL AS BUSINESS BAR

SENATE LEADERS FEAR FILIBUSTER

Byrd Demands Adjournment Plans Be Halted for Adequate Study of Redrafted Tax Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(Saturday)—(AP)—The senate agreed early today to vote 2-30 p. m. on the tax bill conference report, virtually assuring adjournment of congress tonight.

By the Associated Press.
The house approved the tax bill conference report, 221 to 98, last night and sent that measure, carrying with it hopes for adjournment of congress tonight, to its final barrier—the senate.

The compromise tax plan estimated to raise $800,000,000 which broke the long deadlock between house and senate conferees Thursday was swiftly approved by the machine-like house after brief debate.

It went to a senate where sharply divided sentiment and a disposition in some quarters to filibuster against it presented a troublesome problem for congressional chieftains determined to send the measure to the White House and adjourn congress tonight.

The house earlier in the day approved two bills introduced by the American Federation of Labor. One imposes wage and hour conditions on government contractors who supply more than $10,000 worth of material.
The other makes it a felony to transport professional strikebreakers across state lines to smash "peaceful picketing."

Senate approval of house changes in the measures was predicted by their supporters.

Without even a record vote, the senate approved a measure intended to provide direct government ship subsidies instead of the present ocean mail contract subsidy system. A subcommittee report was expected.

Two Augusta Women Drown in Carolina

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—
Two members of a B. Y. P. U. swimming party were drowned today in a near-by South Carolina pond.
Miss Gwendolyn Garvin, 25, went under when she attempted to rescue Louise Hardy, 14, who was already under water beyond her depth.
Brought to the hospital here, they were pronounced dead after physicians had worked three hours to revive them.

Both were members of the Woodlawn Baptist Sunday school in Augusta.

Lemke To Seek Presidency On Own Third Party Ticket

Claims Support of Townsend, Coughlin for New 'Union Party.'

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(UP)— Representative William Lemke, of North Dakota, who lists himself as "nonpartisan," announced late today that he will run for President of the United States as candidate of a new political group to be known as the union party.

Thomas Charles O'Brien, of Boston, will be the vice presidential candidate
on the ticket, Lemke said.

Following Lemke's announcement,
Father Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit priest, said that his National Union for Social Justice would throw its strength behind the candidacy of the North Dakotan.

Simultaneously he made public a 15-point platform embodying demands for refinancing of farm mortgages, a living wage for all workers, old-age security, and limitation on individual incomes.

"I have accepted the challenge of the reactionary elements of both of the old parties," Lemke's formal statement said, "and will run for President of the United States as the candidate of the union party, which I am instrumental in establishing officially, in accordance with the thousands of messages and requests which I have

TWELVE CHILDREN QUICK DROUTH AID DROWNED IN MAINE PROMISED GEORGIA

Motorboat Capsizes, Hurling
Young Picnickers
Into 16 Feet of Water.

MACHIAS, Maine, June 19.—(UP)— Twelve school children enjoying a picnic on the first day of their summer vacation were drowned in Gardner's lake at East Machias today when the small outboard motorboat in which they were riding capsized.

The dead: Daniel McCurdy, Evelyn Mahar, Raymah Knowles, Roland Eaton, Aaron Mahar, Doris Small, Christine Sleight, Merle Lewis, Jerome Knepper, Milton Dismore, Glen Morey and Frank Reynolds.

The victims ranged in age from 8 to 12 years and had come here with a party of 200 children from public schools in Lubec, 22 miles away. Victims were residents of Lubec, West Lubec and North Lubec.

At nightfall, all but bodies of the McCurdy, Reynolds and Lewis children were recovered.

Coast guards who sped inland from the Cross Island station attempted to rescue two of the children with pulmonary. Their efforts appeared futile, however.

The tragedy, worst of its kind in New England history, occurred scarcely 50 yards from shore.
Authorities said 17 children were packed in the 13-foot craft owned and piloted by Kelly London, 60, of Lubec, when it overturned as it attempted to make a turn. All occupants were hurled into the water and, according to investigators, London swam ashore.

Heroine of the tragedy was Mrs.
Stella M. Burhoe, Lubec school teacher, who was standing on shore when the boat capsized. She disrobed, leaped into the lake and rescued Marion Kelley and pulled ashore the body of a boy believed to be Aaron Mahar.
Mrs. Burhoe was near collapse.

Four of the five children who escaped.

ED RIVERS SCOUTS DEMOCRATIC TIDE WITHDRAWAL HINT, IS STILL AT FLOOD PAYING ENTRY FEE IN ALL SECTIONS

"In Race to Stay," Speaker of House Says; Larson Denies Intention of Dropping Campaign.

As reports were being heard that he would be asked to withdraw from the race in favor of Judge Blanton Fortson, the candidate of the Wellner convention, Speaker E. D. Rivers of the house of representatives yesterday paid his entrance fee and became a qualified candidate for governor. Speaker Rivers was the first gubernatorial candidate to qualify for the race.

"I am in the race to stay and I'm going to win," Speaker Rivers said.
"My platform is well known to all people and I believe it is one which merits the support of all of our voters."

At Perry, where he halted on a speaking tour, former Congressman W.
W. Larsen, of Dublin, also announced that he had no intention of withdrawing.

"Program Approved."
"I am campaigning on a platform which I feel is of the best interests to the people of Georgia," Judge Larsen said. "It is meeting with widespread approval."

As far as could be learned no overtures were made to Speaker Rivers by leaders of the Wellner movement to abandon his race. They were merely being talked by leaders of the movement.

Speaker Rivers appeared at the offices of Mrs. Eleanor Orr Hoan at the state capitol, accompanied by

Only Seven Congressmen Have Been Unseated at Party Primaries; Some of Them Opposed F.D.R.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, June 19.—If the latest compilation of returns from democratic congressional primaries over the country may be accepted as a guide, President Roosevelt and his New Deal administration still stand strong with the electorate of the nation, despite the vociferous claims now being heard from the opposition campsine, the republicans have nominated their presidential ticket.

To date over one-third, or 17 of the 48 states have held their primaries for the selection of nominees for congressional office to be voted on in the national elections of November.
Although a total of 134 democratic congressmen were required to go before their constituents in these 17 states on the record of their support of the Roosevelt administration, only seven of the lot were defeated for re-nomination.

There is nothing to show that the seven unsuccessful incumbent candidates were rejected because of any allegiance with the New Deal administration. The very opposite may have been true, in fact.

But the significant thing, as viewed by trained political observers, is that the turnover should be so small. Comparative figures are not available at the moment, but it is self-evident that if any such dissatisfaction existed over

FRANCE ABANDONS JUDGE E. L. RAINEY SANCTIONS STAND PASSES IN DAWSON

Britain's Action, Meanwhile, Draws Sharp Criticism from Foes.

PARIS, June 19.—(AP)—The new French socialist government swung into line today in the parade headed by Great Britain to remove sanctions from conquering Italy.

An official communication disclosed the cabinet had agreed to "accept" the lifting of sanctions. It said:
"The government, faithful to the principle of collective action, will associate itself with any decision adopted by the League of Nations."

"Informed of the present situation of the sanctions question, it felt consideration of facts led it to accept this lifting."

Whether the economic penalties will be lifted immediately was not disclosed. Although they will not end officially until the League acts, it was felt sanctions are ended now so far as France is concerned.

The government, it was indicated, might now turn to negotiation with Italy, and to the negotiation of a mutual assistance agreement to insure her security.

It was announced the cabinet voted to pursue actively the putting to work of "proper means" for collective security.

The action was taken one day after a similar one by Great Britain.

Georgia Newspaperman and Prison Commission Chairman Dies at Home.

DAWSON, Ga., June 19.—(AP)— Judge Eugene Leigh Rainey, 73, Georgia newspaperman and chairman of the state prison commission, died early today at his home here.

He became ill shortly after returning from a trip to Columbus, where he and other members of the prison commission investigated the recent breaking of a prisoner.

Mr. Rainey owned and published the Dawson News for nearly 50 years.
He had served on the prison commission for 23 years and had been its chairman since 1928.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, central standard time, at the Dawson Methodist church. Burial will be in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers from the Georgia Press Association, announced by W. Kirk Sullivan, of Blackshear, president, will be:

J. L. Taylor, Buena Vista; O. J.
Culpepper, Camilla; John H. Crouch, Lawrenceville; K. K. McGill, Sylvester; A. K. McGill, Sylvester; John Green Herring, Tifton, and C. M.
Melvin, Vienna.

In Atlanta, Governor Talmadge ordered the capitol closed for the day in tribute to the memory of Judge Rainey. All offices in the building will be closed and a number of state officials and employees are expected to attend the funeral.

Judge Rainey was born in Perry,
Ga., January 21, 1863. He married
Miss Mary Ella Symmes, of Dawson, in 1888, and soon after making his

Next Committeewoman May Be Mrs. R. G. Price

Louisville, Ga., Editor Mentioned as Probable Choice for Position.

It is currently reported around the lobbies of the Henry Grady hotel, where the Roosevelt campaign committee has headquarters, that the next national committeewoman from Georgia will be Mrs. Virginia Polhill Price, of Louisville, Jefferson county.

Mrs. Price is the editor and publisher of the Louisville News and Farmer, one of the best weekly newspapers of the state. She is the wife of Rufus Gordon Price, judge of the city court of Louisville.

Mrs. Price is a daughter of James B. Polhill Sr. and a granddaughter of the late J. H. Polhill, noted in reconstruction days as a forceful democratic leader in middle and south Georgia and many times representative of Jefferson county and of that senatorial district. He was president pro tem of the Georgia senate during the incumbency of Rufus E. Lester as president and was considered one of the strongest men who ever served in the Georgia senate. He was a distinguished attorney and ranked among the leaders of the Georgia bar for many years.

Mrs. Price has for the past several years done wonderful work on her newspaper, which is held in high esteem not only in Jefferson but in surrounding counties. She is a hard worker, knows the weekly newspaper business from beginning to end and has made her newspaper one of the outstanding weeklies of the state.

KING COTTON RISES 'NOMINATORS' MAP TO 12-CENT LEVEL DRIVE IN DISTRICT

Drouth and Demand Aid Advance of Staple to Mark Sought by U. S.

NEW ORLEANS, June 19.—(AP)— Rising from the dust of the drouth southeast, 12-cent-a-pound cotton came back to the south today.

Climaxing a month of steady advance, both spot cotton and cotton futures on their own accord in the price level the government had attempted to maintain for the past three years.

Threatened crop failure in the eastern third of the belt where prolonged periods without rain have delayed and in some cases ruined this year's cotton, a potential short "squeeze" in the July position, an eager world demand for American cotton and heavy sales of cotton goods were advanced as reasons for the gains today.

Another development, interpreted bullishly by the trade, was the practical end to the operations of the government cotton pool. In the July position the cotton trade, long contending that this agency tended to shackle their operations, hailed these developments with undisguised pleasure.

At the close tonight July cotton only to the cotton market finished at 12.12 cents a pound, bid. The average of middling spot cotton at 10 southern markets was 12.17 cents a pound.

The one discordant note heard amid the general pleasure at the price advance.

Cobb Says: Circus Was Dad's Spree

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 19.
So Father's Day came right at the height of the raspberry season.
There's the making of an ironic crack here, seems like.

To me, though, circus day will always be Father's Day. My father, who had been the son of a rich man,
was a poor man. We lived frugally;
we had to. True, he had certain expensive tastes—starchy white vests, hand-made boots, the best five-cent cigars that money could buy, and an occasional trip to a Confederate reunion.

But his crowning extravagance was when the circus came to town.
He believed every child should go to the circus. So he took his four children. He took every child in the neighborhood whose parents couldn't or wouldn't escort their offspring.
He deliberately smuggled along children whose parents, on religious grounds, were against circuses. And for any child of his acquaintance who had no money and nowhere to get any, he bought a ticket out of his own pocket. For one and all, he provided red lemonade and pink popcorn. Afterward he would go down to the Richmond home bar and get mildly tight. There were years when the party must have cost him more than his total income for two weeks amounted to.

Of all the spending orgies in which men indulge, my dad's was the most generous and the most satisfying I ever heard of.

RINGSIDE, YANKEE STADIUM,
NEW YORK, June 19.—The atom has been taken apart. The myth of the superman has been exploded completely.

The explosion took place in the fourth round when Max Schmeling planted a killing right hand on the unguarded chin of Joe Louis, who hit the floor and bounced like a 200-pound rubber ball. In the wake of that devastating punch,
Schmeling went on to knock out
Louis in 2 minutes and 29 seconds of the twelfth round to bring about the greatest upset in heavyweight history.

Between the fourth and final round, the stolid German gave the Brown Bomber one of the worst beatings in ring history. That knockdown punch left Louis in the role of a marionette wound upon a string. He fought the remainder of the round on fighting instinct alone.
Round after round Schmeling nailed him with a cocked right hand, supposed to be the sucker punch. The German rarely called on his left. He merely waited in, throwing that whistling right fist and he almost never missed. He hit Louis with at least sixty right-hand punches and the wonder is that Joe ever staggered his way into the twelfth round.

Unconscious Two Minutes.

Louis was practically out after the fourth and, when Max finally nailed him with another heavy right in the closing stanza, Louis dropped to the floor after the manner of a slaughtered ox. He was dead out for at least two minutes after Jack Blackburn and his handlers had dragged the inert lump of human flesh to his corner, battered, beaten and unconscious.

More than 40,000 people got their first shock at the Yankee stadium escaped the fate of their classmates swam ashore safely. A second body was recovered by the Rev. Kenneth H. Castens, of Lubec. Others were pulled from the picturesque lake with grappling hooks by state and local police.

Depth of the water at the point where the drownings occurred was estimated at 16 feet. Near by are camps of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Two hundred youthful picnickers from the Ridge, Split Hill, Small school and Straight May schools in Lubec were in the party. They were celebrating the close of school.

Medical Examiner O. F. Larson, of Machias, who viewed the bodies, charged the boat was overloaded. "Anybody should be ashamed," he said, "to take anybody out in a boat like this."

DEMOCRATIC SURGE STILL RUNNING HIGH

New Deal policies as claimed by republican opponents of Mr. Roosevelt a feeling would have manifested itself in more convincing style.

Louisiana, the first of the states to hold a primary, calls for special treatment because the situation which existed there under the dictatorship of the late Senator Huey P. Long has since changed. While, first of the state's eight sitting congressmen, all democrats, were defeated for re-election, New Deal issues did not figure in the election as regards their individual campaigns. It was merely a matter of Long and anti-Long forces battling it out, with Long and Roosevelt taking so part in the contest beyond the indirect influence of the knowledge that there was no love lost between him and the colorful senator.

Though still dominant in its control of Louisiana affairs, the old Long machine has now come over to support of the Roosevelt regime, so that the defeat of the five congressmen demands a separate consideration from the others.

If there is any lesson to be read from the primary returns it is that the democratic voters of the nation, of those participating in democratic primaries, are standing back of the congressional legislators who supported the chief executive during the turbulent period of the past few years.

Otherwise the country would have witnessed a growing number of dissenters sweeping in over the incumbents on issues unfavorable to the administration. Undoubtedly some of the nominations were contested on this basis, but the fact that only seven anti-democratic, exclusive of Louisiana, were elected, has been returned thus far speaks for itself.

What is true of the house members is equally true of the senate, again eliminating Louisiana, where Senator Long won despite the efforts of the administration. Aside from Long, five democratic senators have faced the voters of their states already this year—Lewis of Illinois, Bankhead of Alabama, Bulow of South Dakota, Neely, of West Virginia, and Bailey, of North Carolina. All of them have been re-nominated.

Only two of them faced spirited opposition. Senator Bailey on the score that he had not been as wholesome in his support of the New Deal as some thought he might; he won by a not too comfortable margin. Senator Bulow was heatedly opposed by the youthful junior Senator Holt of the same state because of his defense of administration agencies in West Virginia. Neely won by a landslide.

As an added factor in the situation, the democratic registration lists have been swelled to a greater extent this year than ever before, with such normally republican states as California, for example, actually reversing the figures for the last presidential election year, 1932, when several hundred thousand more voters registered themselves as republicans than democrats.

In the light of the congressional picture as thus given, the recent claims of John Hamilton, of Kansas, the youthful newly elected chairman of the republican national committee, that the republican party was in a position to win the next election, seems to be a bold statement.

Certainly, as the political experts take it, his figures would have carried earmarks of more accuracy if Chairman Hamilton, with more modesty, had conceded his ticket six states at the start.

Democratic Chieftain Farley still clings to his position. He has conceded for a while that the number of states may be as large as 20. The difference will be made up in the huge electoral vote of Pennsylvania, which he says will be safely in the democratic column this year. To the surprise of everybody, the state went democratic in 1934. May he be right again. Who knows?

Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, co-chairman with W. O. of the district, and Everett Millican, Fulton county chairman, also were among the speakers yesterday.

The fifth district rally will be held in Atlanta, either at Ponce de Leon park or at Grant field, probably at the latter place, according to Wells. A program of speeches and entertainment will be concluded with a re-broadcast address by President Roosevelt from Philadelphia, on his acceptance of the democratic nomination.

ED RIVERS QUALIFIES FOR GOVERNOR RACE

Charles S. Reid, Atlanta attorney, and Mrs. Fred Stowe, of Toccoa, wife of the Stephens county sheriff, Congratulated Mr. Rivers last month, at which the entry fee of $250 was contributed by friends to accompany him to the capitol and pay the fee. Both Reid and Mrs. Stowe were highly optimistic of Speaker Rivers' chances, as was the candidate himself.

Speaker Rivers arrived at the capitol shortly after Columbus Roberts, of Columbus, had visited Mrs. Roan's office and paid his entry fee to become a candidate for commissioner of agriculture against the incumbent, Tom Linder.

Atkinson Qualifies. Others who qualified during the day included Justice Samuel O. Atkinson, veteran member of the state supreme court, against whom no opposition is expected.

Although Speaker Rivers is the only candidate qualified for Governor a number of others are expected shortly. Judge Fortson and former Congressman Larsen are expected to pay their fees next week.

It still cannot be learned whether Governor Talmadge will ask a third term as governor, hoping to put over a constitutional amendment which some think will permit him to serve in the event that the Governor runs for the senate, it may be that there will be two Talmadge-sponsored candidates in the gubernatorial field, Senate President Charles D. Redwine and Hugh Howell, of Atlanta, chairman of the state democratic executive committee. The state chairman will speak today at Cuthbert and may clarify his position in his speech.

Reports from Cuthbert said that a large crowd was expected to hear the chairman, who is called "Talmadge Henchman" by the opposition.

Governor Keeps Silence. The Governor has maintained his silence regarding his future. He did say, however, yesterday that he would not attend democratic national convention at Philadelphia next week, "unless something comes up where I can be of service to my country or my party." He indicated that if he believes he could incorporate some of his ideas of government in the party platform he may fly to Philadelphia after the convention gets under way.

The Constitution reported two months ago that the Governor would not be among those present when the various races interest centered yesterday in plans for the entrainment of the state's delegation to the convention. The party will leave Atlanta Sunday night.

Rufus Keith and L. M. Davidson, describing themselves as dirt farmers from Palmetto, called on Governor Talmadge yesterday and presented him $100 which they said wanted him to use to campaign for any office he desired.

In addition to Speaker Rivers, Robert B. Jones, of Atkinson, the following qualified with Mrs. Roan yesterday:

F. E. Strickland, of Donelsonville, for attorney general; J. L. Haralson, of Donelsonville, opposing S. K. Davis of the Public Service Commission.

Robert B. Jones, succeeded himself as solicitor general of the Albany superior court circuit.

Judge J. H. Hawkins to succeed himself as judge of the Blue Ridge superior court circuit.

W. R. Smith to succeed himself as the judge of the Alabama superior court circuit.

Frank B. Willingham to succeed himself as solicitor general of the Flint circuit.

of his state, did not appear when the announcement was made. His secretary handed out the statements at his office.

Lemke was co-author with Senator Lynn J. Frazier, republican, North Dakota, of a $5,000,000 farm mortgage refinancing bill defeated in the house after being forced under consideration despite attempts of administration leaders to keep it bottled up.

At the time he was expected to announce support of Lemke's candidacy in a radio speech tonight, exerted his best influence to help pass the bill, it was defeated.

Lemke's statement, after naming O'Brien as vice presidential candidate, added:

"I have arranged with friends of mine to proceed with filing the name of the 'union party,' the emblem, the names of presidential electors, my own name, and that of Mr. O'Brien in order to fulfill the specific law of each state relative to filing."

Claims Support. Lemke told the United Press that the union party was supported by farm unions, labor, the National Union for Social Justice (Father Coughlin's organization), the Townsend old age pension movement and all "other liberals" who have been driven from the "old parties."

"You might say that is the real third party movement in the nation's history," he remarked. "It is not from the house floor to begin mapping his campaign."

Lemke asserted there was no doubt in his mind that his supporters would elect a majority at the next congress. He said his organization would concentrate on election of congressmen "favorable to our cause."

Attacked by his formal statement were the 16 planks of the new union party's platform, closely resembling the program of Father Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice. They are:

The Platform. 1. America shall have no foreign entanglements either political, economic, financial or military.

2. Congress and congress alone shall coin and issue the currency and regulate the value of all the money and the credit of the United States through a central bank of issue.

3. Upon establishment of the central bank, congress shall retire all currency, interest-bearing bonds and certificates of indebtedness and shall refinance all present agriculture mortgage indebtedness of farmers and all home mortgage indebtedness of the city owners.

4. Congress shall assure production and a profit for farmers.

5. Congress shall provide "reasonable and decent security for the aged" who have been "victimized and exploited by an unjust economic system which has so concentrated wealth in the hands of a few that it has impoverished great masses of our people."

Tariff Protection. 7. Congress shall legislate so that American agricultural, industrial and commercial markets shall be protected from manipulation of foreign money and from all raw materials, and processed goods produced at less than a living wage.

8. Congress shall provide "adequate and perfect defense." "If there must be conscription, there shall be a conscription of wealth as well as a conscription of men."

9. Congress shall establish civil service for all federal officers and positions.

10. Congress shall restore representative government to the people by the "ruthless eradication of bureaucracy."

11. Congress shall institute federal work for conserving public land, waters and forest, thereby creating "billions of dollars of wealth, millions of jobs at the prevailing wage, and thousands of homes."

Protect Small Industry. 12. Congress shall protect small industry and private enterprise by "controlling and decentralizing the economic domination of monopolies."

13. "Congress shall protect private property from confiscation through necessary taxation with the understanding that the human rights of the masses take precedent over the rights of the few."

petition, that all persons growing crops of grapes, peaches or berries in Georgia may make fermented wines having only such alcoholic content as natural processes of fermentation may produce.

Immediately, it is charged, wine was poured into Georgia in a deluge from other states of the Union and this imported wine is said to be fortified to an extent that it averages more than 14 per cent alcohol and, naturally, these wines of high alcoholic content are preferred by the drinking population of the state.

As a result, the frozen fruit company charges that it has bought 3,100 barrels of Georgia peaches and has processed these peaches and stands to lose $30,000 in the deal because it cannot get rid of the peaches.

Voided Contract. The frozen fruit company further charges that it entered into a contract with the Monarch Wine Company of Georgia and was to supply the wine company with approximately $138,000 worth of peaches annually for the manufacture of Georgia wine from Georgia products. The contract was to be void if the Georgia wine act was not enforced. The wine act is not in force and this contract has been cancelled.

The peaches that the fruit company bought are costing $50 a day for storage, the petition charges, and this expense is piling up day after day.

The frozen fruit company wants the importation of wines into Georgia stopped and the attorneys will argue the problem out next Thursday.

RED CROSS TO GIVE SWIM INSTRUCTION

Classes Start Monday at Grant Park, Maddox on Tuesday.

Free instructions in swimming and life-saving will be given to both adults and children by the Red Cross beginning Monday at Grant park and Tuesday at Maddox park, it was announced yesterday by Lewis Cook, Atlanta representative of the Red Cross Life Saving Examiners' Club.

The classes are part of a six-week program conducted annually by Red Cross in effort to lower the number of deaths caused by drowning. At the end of the courses last year, more than 300 Atlantans passed the swimmer's test.

One class for boys and girls will be held at Grant park at 9 o'clock on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays for the next two weeks. The other for children will be held at Maddox park on Tuesdays and Thursday for the next three weeks.

A series of classes also will be held at other city parks following the one at Maddox and Grant parks. Instructions will be given adults on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. The last course is open to swimmers of 17 years or more who are capable of swimming 400 yards.

LARGE AAA PAYMENTS REVEALED BY WALLACE

Hawaiian Sugar Receives Biggest Payment,
$1,022,562.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace today submitted to the senate a report that a shifting group of around 300 producers had received better than $10,000 a year under the old AAA and that $35,400,000 had been paid in the higher brackets over a three-year period.

The report, requested by the senate April 24 in adopting a resolution by Senator Vandenberg, republican, Michigan, contained figures to the effect that the $35,400,000 to this group came out of a total of $1,171,000,961 paid in benefits under the court-invalidated administration.

Sugar producers received the biggest AAA checks.

Other large payments went to cotton planters in Arkansas and Mississippi, to a hog farm in California, a wheat ranch in Montana and to rice farmers in Louisiana.

Leading the sugar list was the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company, Ltd., which was paid $1,022,562. The Oahu Sugar Company of Hawaii received $904,562.

Other Payments.

Other sugar producers in Hawaii receiving large payments were the Lihue Plantation Company, $815,400; Ewa Plantation Company, $751,843; Waiiala Agricultural Company, Ltd., $740,005.

In continental United States, the United States Sugar Corporation of Florida led the list with total payments of $785,038.

In Puerto Rico, on one contract, the Eastern Sugar Association received $278,810, and the National City Bank of New York $705,488. On another joint contract there, the Compania Glorietta received $71,462, and the Bank of Nova Scotia $478,925.

The largest cotton payments went to Lee Wilson & Company, Mississippi county, Arkansas, which received $592,702, and the Pine Land Company of Mississippi, $518,287.

Manager of Firm.

Oscar Johnston, manager of the AAA cotton pool, is manager of the Delta and Pine Land Company.

Other large cotton payments were $500,000 in 1935 to Hanks & Danner, Crittenden county, Arkansas, and a total of $90,137 to the Tillar Mercantile Company of Drew county, Arkansas.

Fontana Farms, of San Bernardino county, California, received the largest corn-hog payment, $155,575. The Jersey Fee Farms, of New Jersey, was paid $48,752 on a corn-hog contract, while the Riddle Contracting Company, Inc., of New Jersey, was given $14,720.

Among the largest wheat payments was a total of $1,096 to the Campbell Farming Corporation of Montana. This compared to a total of $6,302,386 in wheat payments for the whole state. The Sutter Basin Corporation, Ltd., of the Sutter Improvement Company of California received a total of $134,834 in wheat checks. The Bank of American National Trust and Savings Association in California was paid $47,357, while James Irvine, of Fresno county, California, received a total of $47,400.

INTEREST CENTERED UPON TARIFF PLANK

Non-Partisan Reciprocal Trade Program Envisaged
by Senator Pope.

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—Democratic platform planners were recorded tonight as insisting that the party pledge itself to a "nonpartisan reciprocal trade program" to make the United States "a moral force among the nations of the world."

After viewing the republican platform calling for repeal of the reciprocal trade treaties, Senator Pope, democrat, Idaho, a champion of the farm interests in reciprocal trade pacts, said Secretary Hull's views were expected to be a controlling factor in shaping the tariff plank.

On international affairs, Pope said there had been considerable closed-door talk of recommending that the United States command an active part among nations for maintenance of peace and economic understanding.

Senator Lewis, of Illinois, democratic whip, said he understood no mention by name would be made of a minimum wage law for women and children, but that the platform likely would favor a "proper balancing of wages and hours of labor."

Senator McCadd, of California, wartime secretary of the treasury, said he did not expect any fight over the money issue, believing the convention would declare for a managed currency as conducted by the present administration.

Chairman Jones, democratic whip of the house agriculture committee, said he understood nothing definite other than continuation of the soil conservation program with its crop control features, had been decided upon by farm plank planners.

Meanwhile, the democratic high command moved into Philadelphia today, forecasting a serenely peaceful national convention, while thickening throngs in hotel lobbies told that the big party meeting was but a few days away.

Chairman James A. Farley, of the national committee, arrived, spent a few minutes with newspaper correspondents and then established himself in his headquarters.

Confident in their control of the situation, the party leaders foresaw small difficulty in smoothly obtaining the adoption of their program, calling first of all for the re-nomination of President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner, abrogation of the traditional two-thirds nominating rule, and the adoption of a New Deal platform.

'Railroading Me, Cries Zioncheck As Officials Ask His Internment

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(AP)—The District of Columbia commissioners filed a petition in court today asking that Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, of Washington, be interned in St. Elizabeth's hospital (an institution for mental and nervous cases). The commissioners contended Zioncheck was insane. The representative has been under mental observation at Gallinger hospital here more than two weeks.

He was taken to Gallinger on a commitment sworn to by the local sanitary officer after a series of events ending with two visits to the White House, where he left empty beer bottles and moth balls for President Roosevelt.

Zioncheck was informed of the court action as he looked through a window from the hospital ward.

"There is nothing wrong with me," he said. "There is nothing wrong with me." At this point guards apparently pulled the representative from the window.

The commissioners—a three-man board which governs the national capital—filed their plea in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The petition, which said the commissioners believed Zioncheck "to be an insane person with homicidal or otherwise dangerous tendencies," was filed under an act to authorize "the apprehension and detention of insane persons in the District of Columbia."

The whirlwind of happenings that preceded Zioncheck's commitment to Gallinger hospital included his marriage to Ruby Louise Nix, 21-year-old former WPA stenographer, and

Favorable Public Opinion Vital To Banking Success, Says Gordon

RICHMOND, Va., June 19.—(AP)—Public opinion is now the silent partner in efforts of all kinds, Lewis F. Gordon, director of public relations for Citizens & Southern National Bank, Atlanta, said today.

Gordon, who spoke to the Virginia Bankers' Association, said the success of success for any banker lies in "his interest in and understanding of people."

"People make banks; people are the life of banks; it is right or wrong, people's ideas govern the success or failure of banks," he said.

A bank, he pointed out, may be regarded either as a great partnership or a great fraternity.

"In either case, there is a distinct obligation on the management to familiarize the partner with the functions of the business or to acquaint the 'brothers in the lodge' with the principles of the order."

Astronomers Thwarted as Cloud Shields Eclipse at Vital Moment

KIMISHI, Hokkaido, Japan, June 19.—(AP)—By a cruel trick of the elements, a brilliant group of British astronomers and physicists met failure in their sun eclipse observation today by less than a minute.

Within 60 seconds before the total eclipse was to occur, the sun was unobscured, but capricious clouds close just the vital two minutes to hide it. Weeks of work and thousands of dollars were spent in vain.

However, from other stations along the line of totality came reports of excellent results in photographing and observing the phenomenon.

Dr. Josef J. Johnson, of the California Institute of Technology, who was at Memambeto, said: "It was perfectly clear throughout the totality. My observations were made under the best possible conditions."

The British expedition, led by Dr. Frederick John M. Stratton, director of the solar physics observatory at Cambridge University, had as its only consolation perhaps one or two photographs of the chromosphere.

Eight eminent scientists of the party spent five months and thousands of miles of travel on the expedition.

As seen from Kamishari, the sun played hide-and-seek not only with the moon but also with clouds at a crucial period. Ten minutes before totality a cloud bank hid the eclipse and there after intermittent clouds and sunshine defeated the scientists.

HUMAN RIDDLES That Have Vexed the World

By VINCENT TOWNE

THE STRANGE CASE OF RICHARD IVENS.

Application of hypnotic suggestion to suspected criminals for the enforcement of true confessions has been recommended by some students of criminal psychology. The consensus of such scientific opinion has been that any human being, however unscrupulous, cunning or deceitful, will, under this stimulus, become suddenly unsophisticated and ingenuous and utter in the unadulterated truth even more readily than, when in the normal state, he gave voice to lies.

Some murder cases appear to reveal phenomena quite the reverse of this alleged law. Shortly, they seem to prove that a suspect, hypnotized by an emotional shock and acted upon by a forceful suggestion of guilt imparted during a rigorous "sweating" such as administered by the police to virtually all murder suspects may make detailed confessions of crime of which he is utterly innocent. The scientist who came forward as, apparently, the first exponent of this strange mental law was Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, professor of psychology at Harvard.

Professor Munsterberg was forced to this conclusion by investigating a strange murder case which occurred in Chicago three decades ago. The victim was a young married woman, Mrs. Hollister. On January 12, 1906, a young man, Richard G. Ivens, reported that he had found her body lying face downward in a barnyard a half block from his home. In the adjacent barn Ivens cared for his father's horse, and it was his business to go there and attend to it. Finding the body, he immediately ran home and reported the discovery to his father, who notified the police. Near the dead woman were no evidences of violence or a struggle. Her hat lay at her feet, but her purse, shopping bag and muff were missing. The murdered had threatened her with a copper wire, still about her throat, the ends drawn tightly together.

Ivens appeared nervous when the police questioned him. He showed evidences of having been awake all night. Yet investigation proved that he had a good record. All of his neighbors regarded him as very kind, credulous and amiable, although given to fits of despondency, absent-mindedness and stupidity. He assisted his father at the carpenter's trade.

When brought to the police station he was told at once that he was guilty, but protested his innocence. The police questioning him began their riotous honeymoon to the West Indies and New York.

While away on their wedding trip, Mrs. Benjamin Scott Young, whom Zioncheck had rented his apartment, said valuable furnishings had been damaged during his occupancy.

Subsequently Mrs. Young swore to warrants charging both Mr. and Mrs. Zioncheck with simple assault. She said they had forcibly ejected her from the apartment causing her personal injury.

The text of the commissioner's petition follows:

"One Marion A. Zioncheck, who is believed to be insane or of unsound mind, has been apprehended and is now detained at the Gallinger municipal hospital, pending a formal inquiry into his mental condition."

"The said Marion A. Zioncheck is represented to your petitioners and by them believed to be an insane person with homicidal or otherwise dangerous tendencies, without sufficient capacity for the government of himself and of his property."

"The same Marion A. Zioncheck has been insane or of unsound mind since the first day of June, 1938, his cause of insanity being to petitioners unknown, but of certain representations made to them be true he is an unfit person to be at large, and is a fit subject for detention and treatment on account of his mental condition."

"Your petitioners further believe that if he be permitted to go at large within the said district, the rights of persons and property therein will be jeopardized and the preservation of public peace imperiled, and the commission of crime rendered probable."

C.M. BOLEN ANNOUNCES FOR SEAT IN COUNCIL

To Seek Election from New Fourth Ward; Cites Record.

C. M. (Mac) Bolen, tenth ward councilman, yesterday announced his candidacy for one of the two councilmanic posts from the newly created fourth ward, composed of the old tenth and seventh wards.

Bolen holds a responsible position with a large Atlanta manufacturing firm and is well known in civic and political circles of the two wards.

Text of his announcement follows: "I wish to take this opportunity of announcing to the people of Atlanta my candidacy for re-election to council from the new fourth ward in the city democratic primary September 2, 1938."

"At the last session of the general assembly the ward lines of the city were changed and the new fourth ward will be comprised of the present seventh and tenth wards."

"I am now serving as a member of council from the tenth ward, and in offering for re-election, I do so on record in office and my desire to continue to serve the people of Atlanta."

14-YEAR-OLD GIRL WINS BEAUTY TEST

Frances Ansley Is Chosen
'Miss DeKalb' at Pageant;

Petite and blond Frances Ansley, 14, of 214 East Davis street, Decatur, was chosen as "Miss DeKalb" at last night, winning over 74 entrants in a beauty pageant held under auspices of Harold Byrd Post No. 66, American Legion, at the Venetian Country Club.

The runner-up was Lottie Garrett, 21, of 782 East College avenue Decatur, a rather tall brunet, and third prize was awarded Elizabeth White, 16, of Lithonia, also a brunet.

Judges were Trammell Scott, Jimmie Wilson and Clyde Moran.

The affair was held to raise funds for the drum and bugle corps of the Sons of the Legion, junior branch of the American Legion, for purchase of uniforms and for funds to attend the state convention at Athens this month.

The arrangements committee included John Lynch, junior vice commander-elect, chairman; Vernon Frank, newly-elected commander; T. J. Fountain, vice commander-elect, and R. K. Whiteford. Several hundred persons attended.

EXCHANGE CHANGE Dearborn Telephones to Get Dial System.

Decatur and Druid Hills residents using the Dearborn telephone exchange will be served by a new central office to be constructed by the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, according to an announcement yesterday.

Construction of the new exchange building is scheduled to start about November 1.

Decision of telephone officials to renovate the Dearborn exchange came shortly after permission was granted by the Decatur city commission.

The new building will be constructed at East Lake drive and Park place at a cost of $90,000. A dial system will be installed, costing $55,000. Approximately $37,000 will be expended to make changes in the outside plant at Decatur and to install equipment in the Atlanta central office.

The new dial system will be capable of serving 10,500 telephones, according to G. C. Bowden, district manager for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, according to an announcement yesterday.

Construction of the new exchange building is scheduled to start about November 1.

CHURCH TO DEDICATE BUILDING TOMORROW

West End Congregation Moves to New Edifice at 1103 Gordon Street.

Congregation of the West End Christian church and the Rev. M. U. Tarvin, pastor, will dedicate the new church building on Gordon street at services to be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Rev. Bruce Noy, secretary of Georgia Christian churches, will deliver the sermon.

A service beginning at 8 o'clock tomorrow night will be the first of a series to be conducted during the week at the church by the Rev. S. P. Spiegel, of West Point.

The West End Christian church was organized in the early 1890s and for 36 years occupied a site at Gordon and Dunn streets. The development of business houses in that section made the location unsuitable for worship and about a year ago the officers and congregation of the church acquired the new site at 1103 Gordon street, southwest.

It was largely through the efforts of Mr. Tarvin, pastor of the church for the last five years, that the new building was completed. Friends of the church are invited to attend the dedication service tomorrow by the pastor and J. L. Carman, superintendent of the Bible school.

PRISONERS KILL GUARD AND ESCAPE IN TEXAS

RETRIEVE PRISON FARM, Texas, June 19.—(AP)—Three Texas prisoners, listed as among the "worst" in the state, killed a guard with his own pistol today and escaped into the trackless underbrush near this south Texas prison farm.

The break occurred while guards were taking a squad of convicts out to plow. Felix Smith, guarding the rear, was jerked from his horse and shot to death.

Led by Luke Trammel, sentenced to 102 years imprisonment for murder, robbery and other crimes, the fugitives eluded a posse, quickly organized by Captain Rube Conner, in charge of the farm. Bloodhounds failed to pick up their trail.

T. N. Atkinson, habitual criminal serving life, and Forrest Gibson, sentenced to 10 years for theft, escaped with Trammel.

MOTHER, 2 CHILDREN ARE FOUND SLAIN

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—(AP)—Mystery blocked progress by the police today in their effort to solve the weird deaths of Mrs. Eleanor Feely, 30-year-old wife of a University of Pittsburgh instructor, and their two small children.

Martin Feely, 34, a physical education teacher, told detectives he believed his wife and the babies, Bobby, 5, and Janice, 3, had been murdered. He returned by train today from New Jersey where he attended a boys' summer camp.

An autopsy showed all three had been strangled but investigators for the coroner's office and city detectives offered different theories on what had happened.

The detectives said Mrs. Feely killed the children and committed suicide. Coroner's investigators termed it a triple murder.

BULLET WOUND FATAL TO FAIRBURN MAN, 27

A bullet wound in the abdomen suffered early Monday morning in a shooting affray on the Fairburn highway, near Lee's Mill, caused the death in Grady hospital at about 7:30 o'clock last night of Willie Horton, 27, of Fairburn, R. D. 1.

CLAYTON'S CHAIRMAN ATTACKS SENATE PLAN

Protests Action of District Executive Committee in Suspending Agreement.

O. J. Coogler, chairman of the Clayton county democratic executive committee, yesterday issued a statement attacking action of the thirty-fifth senatorial executive committee in providing for a district-wide nomination of a state senator from Fulton, Clayton and Henry counties. Coogler pointed out that the action was unfair.

Text of the statement follows: "There has been transmitted to me as chairman of Clayton county democratic executive committee, a copy of a resolution passed by the executive committee of the thirty-fifth senatorial district June 15 which indicates the committee's intention of depriving Clayton county of furnishing the democratic candidate to be nominated at our September primary.

"There are ten members of this senatorial committee, six from Fulton county, two from Henry county and two from Clayton county. In the present organization of this committee, the offices of chairman and secretary are held by committeemen from Fulton county. In the call of the committee at its assemblage on the date mentioned the right of Clayton county to furnish the candidate for nomination was recognized and in the resolution by Section 1 of the same as follows: 'That the present rotation system, heretofore in existence, be suspended for the coming term only.' A reasonable interpretation being that the present system as a matter of precedent and in principle shall remain unmodified except when the right to furnish the candidate is in one of the other counties, the situation being ripe to take it away from Clayton at the present time.

"This attempt by the committee and its failure to take as intended with the voters in our senatorial district and in Fulton county is not without precedent. A similar attempt was made back in the nineties and the voters in Fulton county and throughout our district nominated the candidate at that time rightfully furnished by Clayton county.

"The resolution complains of certain conditions in respect to the situation with Fulton county as the foundation for depriving Clayton county of its right to furnish the candidate for the senate at this time. That there is great inequality in its representation because of its large population and the inclusion of Campbell and Milton counties. The representation based on population is taken care of by an increased number of representatives in the house, both state and national. Representation in the senate is based solely on certain prescribed territorial limits. Wyoming and New York have each two representatives in the United States senate and a change in this system is certainly not desirable.

"The further complaint set out in this resolution as the reason for having Fulton furnish the candidate as a nominee is based upon important legislation in the interest of large counties at the next session of the general assembly. And, the resolution recites further that at the last session of the legislature a constitutional amendment as sponsored by the senator furnished from Fulton county failed of its passage for submission to voters of the state for lack of approval by the Governor. In the two terms which by the long-interrupted agreement Fulton county has furnished the senator, it has not been content with the same person in office, and with results set out in the committee's resolution should be willing to take its chances in the next general assembly with the nominee entitled to come from Clayton county."

MRS. J. W. MINTER DIES AT RESIDENCE

Native of Jasper County and Former Resident of Monticello Passes.

Mrs. J. W. Minter, well-known Atlanta and former citizen of Monticello, died at noon yesterday at her home at 255 Moreland avenue, after an illness of several months. She was 68.

Mrs. Minter was a native of Jasper county. Her husband, the late J. W. Minter, was formerly cotton buyer of Monticello, where Mrs. Minter lived before moving to Atlanta. She was a member of the Baptist church.

Surviving are seven daughters, the Misses Grace, Bessie, Lila, Ollie and Hazel Minter, all of Atlanta; Mrs. O. T. Smith, of Atlanta; and Mrs. C. Richardson, of Rutledge; a son, C. L. Minter, of Eastman; three sisters, Mrs. J. O. Thomas, of Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Bertie Polk, of Leesburg, Fla.; and Mrs. Lucy Williams, of Tampa, Fla.; two brothers, R. N. Lane, of Bainbridge, and T. A. Lane, of Dublin.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. Burial will be in the Monticello cemetery.

TRAIN SCHEDULES

Changes in Running Times Effective Tomorrow.

Train schedule changes affecting Atlanta are announced for the Southern Railway by E. E. Barry, local assistant general passenger agent, effective tomorrow.

Train No. 29 will arrive in Atlanta at 3:30 p. m. instead of at 8:10 p. m. leaving New York at 7:30 p. m. Train No. 39 will arrive in Atlanta at 8:10 p. m. operating as a local train and making the same stops formerly made by Train No. 29. The Piedmont will arrive in Atlanta at 3:40 p. m. instead of at 3:30 p. m., leaving New York at 9:50 p. m. Northbound. Piedmont will arrive in Atlanta from New Orleans at 8:10 a. m. and will leave Atlanta at 8:25 a. m. with arrival at New York at 7:20 p. m. Central time is used in all arrivals and departures.

R. F. STOWERS, FARMER, PASSES AT RESIDENCE

R. F. Stowers, a life-long resident of Atlanta and Fulton county, died yesterday morning at the residence on Bankhead highway, at the age of 80. He was a retired farmer. Mrs. Stowers, a member of a pioneer family, was an employee of the first rolling mill in this city, and for many years was connected with the brick-making industry in the days when bricks were made by hand.

He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Potts and Mrs. Sadie Potts; two sons, S. W. Stowers and R. A. Stowers; a brother, W. J. Stowers, and several grandchildren.

Final rites will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Providence Baptist church, near Sandy Springs, with burial in the churchyard. The Rev. Vann Stewart will officiate. H. M. Patterson & Son are in charge of funeral arrangements.

BRITAIN'S WISE CONCLUSION

Admitting that Ethiopia no longer exists as a sovereign state, and that nothing short of war, which would eventually involve all Europe, could overthrow the new empire gained by Italy in Africa, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden made a bold bid for peace in Europe by announcing to the house of commons that Great Britain considers it dangerous and useless to continue anti-Italian penalties, and will take the lead in having them lifted without delay at the June 30 meeting of the League of Nations assembly.

Facing derision and heckling of the war party during his address, and a vitriolic denunciation by David Lloyd George, Britain's wartime premier, who declared, "This is the first time I ever heard a British minister ranking next to the premier come down to the house and admit that Britain has been beaten," the courageous young foreign secretary, who was an uncompromising leader in the sanctorist front last October, backed down because he realized that the opposite course meant war, in which he admitted Britain was not prepared to engage.

The action vindicates former Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare in preparing a peace plan last fall, in conjunction with the premier of France, which would probably have then ended the Ethiopian trouble by giving Italy certain concessions. The proposed plan was so unpopular, the war went on to its termination, in spite of sanctions, and Mussolini made more than he would have obtained under the Hoare proposal.

Italy is more than satisfied with the result and has made overtures toward future peace, contingent upon removal of sanctions. Eden, with the backing of Premier Stanley Baldwin, is urging Anglo-Franco-German co-operation for the security of Europe, and with the lifting of sanctions against Italy it is anticipated that Mussolini will be favorable to such concord.

How much dependence can be put in an agreement for peace between the great powers of Europe no one is in a position to estimate, but with all of the nations rushing rearmament in preparation for war, and fearing the moment when some minor incident might touch off the conflagration, any move that tends toward peace will be welcomed by the entire world.

EUGENE L. RAINEY

Georgia loses an able and conscientious public official in the sudden death of Judge E. L. Rainey, chairman of the state prison commission.

Few men have served their state better nor more constructively than did Judge Rainey for more than a half century, both in public office and through the columns of his newspaper, the Dawson News.

A native of Houston county, Judge Rainey was educated in the public schools of Georgia and became, at only 20 years of age, the editor of the News. Under his able guidance it has been for more than 50 years an outstanding member of the weekly press of the state and a constructive influence in both state and community affairs.

As chairman of the prison board, Judge Rainey had been largely responsible for the sweeping reforms in prison conditions that have been effected in Georgia during the past two decades. When he first became a member of the board in 1913 many of the convict camps in the state were conducted in a manner that did no credit to the state. Under his leadership these conditions have been eliminated.

A quiet and retiring man, Judge Rainey was nevertheless one of the most popular and widely known of the state's ranking officials. His death will be widely regretted and will leave a vacancy in the public service that will be difficult to fill.

RUSSELL SHOULD BE RENAMED

The formal announcement of Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. will be received with cordial interest by the state.

The unusual public career of a man who is still as comparatively young as is Senator Russell, and his engaging personality, have made him a popular and welcome figure throughout the state.

As speaker of the house, governor and junior senator he has served the public diligently and earnestly and his record in the senate entitles him to re-election.

The next senate will be overwhelmingly democratic, as is this one, and the question of seniority will be even more important than usual. There have been several deaths in the ranks of the senate. Each vacancy adds to the importance of assignments for the hold-over senators.

It is particularly advisable for this reason to return Senator Russell to the senate, since his seniority position assures his promotion to ranking committee positions.

It will be the wise and graceful thing for the state to re-elect him without opposition. Whether or not he will be opposed remains to be seen, and probably will not be definitely known until after the election close in the first week in July.

But whether or not he has opposition, he should be returned to the senate, not only because he has earned re-election by his excellent service, but because under the seniority rule his service will be progressively more valuable to the state.

FARMERS' MARKETS

A pioneer in the live-at-home movement as related to cities and villages of the state, as well as to those who live on farms, The Constitution is gratified to observe that the various farmers' markets that have been opened for operation are producing the desired result of providing agricultural products for residents of these locations from the farms immediately surrounding them.

It is reported that the farmers' market at Thomasville, which was opened May 1, has paid out an average of $2,000 a day to farmers of that section for vegetables, chickens, eggs and other products of their farms. It is stated that in 39 days of operation $74,241.65 was distributed to the co-operating farmers, which brought increased business in other lines—merchants, professions and trades workers all participating in the benefits.

Cabbage, okra, beans, new potatoes, squash, peas, butter beans, cucumbers, tomatoes, onions, chickens, eggs, cantaloupes and corn were included in the produce sold and distributed to persons without gardens, farmers of that section receiving the money instead of it going north and west, and retail prices being lower than if it were imported from distant states with attendant freight rates and handling charges.

The movement of vegetable and truck crops to market brought increased activity to crate and box mills, with operators at Valdosta utilizing night and day shifts to maintain their output.

Other large markets are now in operation at Atlanta, Valdosta and Douglas, with at Macon under construction. These, added to the number of smaller town and curb markets, are proving a boon to farmers all over the state, and are bringing nearer the time when Georgia will not only live at home, but become a large exporter of agricultural products.

Mussolini has resigned a cabinet job to make room for a son-in-law. This is probably nepotism or something, and see how far a complaint will get you.

The baffling thing is that the only country which doesn't regularly duck the debt is Finland, a nation of fast runners.

Life in '61 was trying, but there wasn't this continual moaning over what Lincoln would have done.

As it threatens to be a dry and dusty summer, political candidates must be careful not to be fooled by mirages.

Status. An immense statue of Benito Mussolini, 180 feet high, mightier by far than the Colossus of Rhodes, which was one of the seven wonders of the classic world, is to be erected in Rome. The blocks of marble for this monster-monument are being carved and assembled in the white mountains of Carrara. When in place, the Duce will appear in the nude with a lion's skin draped around his shoulders, looking in the direction of the Mediterranean, "Mare Nostrum." The inscription in letters of pure gold states will attest to the fact and remind posterity in all eternity that in the thirteenth year of the fascist era, the smoke-filled room of the black-painted, newly changed bill was given to the Duce by the people of Italy.

Another statue, not quite so big, but also of white marble, is to arise in the marketplace of Addis Ababa in front of St. George's cathedral. It is being erected at the expense of the Italian "Society to Combat Mass-Poisoning," small statues of Jesus in the same manner as the popes of Rome in their eagles of Rome in their vanguard on tours of conquest. The innovative interest in the Duce is shown by the fact that the Duce is pursuing his imperial dream not only in the realm of international politics, but has more picturesque details of ancient pomp. Another Roman conqueror who was also a pagan in his youth, Constantine the Great, fastened the emblem of the cross to his legion's banners after a miraculous sign from heaven at the Milvian bridge. That incident is generally regarded as a decisive moment in the triumph of Christianity over the ancient world. Some, however, hold that Christianity's fall dates from the very hour that Constantine became a convert.

A constitution has been drawn up for the new Italian empire in Africa. Under this constitution the natives will have absolute religious freedom. It is said. This does not take away the fact that so large a number of Catholic missionaries are getting ready to evangelize Galla, Asmaric, Dankalia and Somali. The Duce, who is head of the church of Ethiopia, has sent a pathetic appeal to the patriarchy in Alexandria "to save our holy Coptic religion from the Roman heresy." of Ethiopia from the Roman heresy."

England Sees President Re-elected.

Political observers representing leading English newspapers in the United States of America are unanimous in their prognosis on the presidential election this year. They see Mr. Roosevelt re-elected. Everything points to the President's re-election with a good margin to spare, says the Manchester Guardian. "Six months ago it looked as if it might be a close race. But the President has an extraordinary knack of recovering lost ground, and now he is in a position to win by a large margin."

Last year's vote was much talk of "Roosevelt slipping" and the usually accurate "straw votes" of the Literary Digest indicated that he might possibly be defeated. But in the "primary" elections, which in many cases are held to show whom the members of each party want as their candidate, gave just the opposite impression. The Democratic primaries were little more than a formality, the number of registered Democrats taking part in them was much larger than the number of Republicans, even in states where the Republicans usually expect a big majority. It seems most likely therefore, that the President will enjoy a walk-over in the convention and a substantial majority in the election in November."

Talmudic Tales

THE JEWISH WEDDING.

The wedding is one of the most important events in the life of a Jew, and there are many customs and traditions that have grown up around it. A very important essential to the wedding is the Chuppah, under which the couple stands during the ceremony. This is a canopy with a covering usually of silk or satin richly embroidered held up at its four corners by four wooden poles or staves. This is emblematic of a roof over their heads and symbolizes the home, which the couple is about to build for themselves.

At the end of the ceremony a wine glass is placed at the feet of the bridegroom, who steps on it and crushes it. This is a symbol of the destruction of the transitory and uncertain nature of earthly things; to sober their minds and to warn them against excessive hilarity and gaiety.

The practice of throwing rice upon a newly married couple is said to come from the old Jewish custom of showering them with rice, which is a symbol of abundance and productivity. Music plays an important part at a Jewish wedding and has been from times of old. In fact, it is said that before and after the solemn part of the ceremony.

Even when all other music was forbidden, as a sign of mourning after the destruction of the second temple, the rabbis regarded music necessary to a wedding and permitted it. The ceremony is usually followed by a banquet and merrymaking and as the bride and groom lead the procession to a wedding hall, the music played is most joyful. The bride is usually followed by a single deep get out of the car.

If you haven't tried it, it's an experience, believe me, that tests your gratitude for the long hoped-for rain.

Life's Greatest Temptation.

What is your own, pet temptation to spend more money than you can afford? Mine is books.

And you ever have to step from that tiny vehicle across the gutter to the sidewalk with that gutter running level with the curbing in water? And were you wearing, at the time, a pair of white summer shoes all covered with perforations? And find that you simply had to step in the water ankle deep to get out of the car?

Uh-Huh, Sonny.

An instructor at an exclusive country club tells this unusual story about a college student out for his first round of golf.

The youth was teeing off at the first hole while three fellows stood around and waited. Swinging his driver like a baseball bat, he missed the ball completely. He repeated the performance three times before he sliced the ball into the rough.

With a smile, he turned on the impatient golfers and said: "Sure is a tough course."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

PLURALITY WASHINGTON, June 19.—What the mild-mannered Chairman Doughton really said about the news leak that "some damned scoundrel" among his colleagues was giving out the news. He was mistaken. He should have used the plural.

It will be denied, of course, but only two of the conferees liked the idea of drawing the shades and barring the door for the rewriting of the tax bill. Even these two probably do not like it, but they are the only two who have kept their lips entirely sealed.

The others generally have rebelled, off the record, if not on. The rule requires secrecy, but there are some things bigger than rules, in the opinion of many self-respecting congressmen. One is public interest.

TACTICS The strategy of handling the difficult bill, of course, was a smoke-filled room of the purpose of rewriting the most important parts. Then, at the last minute, the bill was rushed forward and slapped through both houses. No widespread opposition could get started. No opportunity for reflection would be given.

The explosion of Mr. Doughton came because the news had leaked out that he had compromised on the house corporation tax provisions. The reason he was justly angry was that those who favored the house provision naturally deluged him with protests.

It is true that congressional conferees are generally on a basis of barter and trade of one section of a bill against another. Leaks often break up the deals. However, taxpayers will hardly be impressed with that possibility.

Within an hour after Mr. Doughton had read the riot act to his comrades in secret session, the news of all that had occurred in that session was published, even including details of the riot act.

JUXTAPOSITION Senator Copeland probably had more reasons for walking out on the democratic national convention than Al Smith, only he did not choose to mention them.

About 24 hours after Dr. Copeland let out the news, President Roosevelt sent to the senate the names of two new New York judges. The proper sequence of these two events should be reversed if you want to get the right extent of Senator Copeland's agitation. That is, he is supposed to have been informed that the nominations were coming next day, and he also knew that they were Farley-Wagner-Tammany appointees, not his.

STRENGTH It is nothing new for Senator Copeland to be surprised with short advance notice of New York appointments. His last previous surprise was the appointment of Senator Wagner's brother to an important New York post.

The estrangement of Senator Copeland and Postmaster General Farley really dates back to the time when Mr. Farley wanted to oppose Copeland's campaign for re-election. Mr. Farley speaks freely in press conferences. In one held at that time he indicated he would like to get rid of Copeland but that the good doctor had been giving medical advice to so many mothers and fathers in New York for so long, it would probably be unwise to oppose him.

Mr. Farley prefaced his statement with the remark that what he said was "just within this room," but apparently someone left the window open.

TARDINESS Italian censorship has managed to keep everything in and around Addis Ababa looking serene to the outside world.

The Italians, for example, have never let out the fact that thousands of disorganized black African warriors are yet roaming the hills without striking distance. Word of their presence has, however, come to official quarters here.

Another thing which the Italian censors desire not to stress is the point that Ethiopia has never surrendered. Yet authorities here know it very well.

Those two considerations have contributed to a general opinion near the top here that Italy should be avoided in lifting the arms embargo against Italy. Nobody believes that any successful insurrection of the blacks is possible or that the war will continue. At the same time they are perfectly willing to let Britain and the League take the leadership in abandoning punitive actions against Italy.

The inside word here is that we will follow along leisurely after them, perhaps waiting a week or two.

IMMATERIAL A news office here received a telephone call the other day, heard a voice at the other end of the wire asking: "Can you tell me who is the republican candidate for governor of Texas?"

A search of the files failed to disclose the desired information, but the newsman suggested that the information might be obtained from the republican national committee, whereupon the voice responded, touching with familiarity:

"This is the republican national committee."

Unjust Criticism.

Lady writes about the hotel lobby fracas in which Governor Talmadge was the central figure, last Wednesday.

She asks why The Constitution did not name the man who refused to shake hands with the governor, saying "I'm not shaking any new acquaintances today."

As a matter of fact, my dear correspondent, The Constitution DID identify the man as "L. J. Perry, former deputy attorney general, and was charged by Governor Talmadge." That is exact quotation from the story on the front page of The Constitution the morning after the event.

Would have written the lady directly, instead of replying through the column, if she had given her address in her letter. In so far as human limitations of a human staff of reporters permit, The Constitution always endeavors to give complete news.

John Wilkes Booth, most celebrated assassin, received a fatal wound in 1865, either from his own pistol or from the carbine of Private Boston Corbett, one of the detachment which had surrounded Booth's and David Herold's hiding place on a farm near Bowling Green, Va. Unmarked is the grave of Booth in the family plot in Baltimore cemetery. The body was originally interred in a prison yard at Washington, where it lay for six years, until it was turned over secretly to Booth's mother and identified beyond a doubt as his before being reburied.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEBLER.

Carpenter NEW YORK, June 19.—My friend Jimmy Powers, the sport editor of the New York Daily News, backs off and showers himself with fresh-mown rose petals as a member of new school of sport writers who have the vision and courage to tell the truth and nothing but the truth.

Mr. Powers was riding the train with the ball clubs and hanging around the fight clubs a dozen years ago, and therefore, is no wide-eyed juvenile himself, his essay calls for a little correction. I don't like to go around telling people's ages on them, but no man who remembers the Meusel brothers and Jackie Coogan's debut has any right to talk baby talk and ask Harry Greb was as great as the old-timers say.

"Carpenter," says he, "was studiously ballooned into a cardboard hero by a patriotic French-banqueting tossed for 50-kilometer cases. We will just kick lightly over the fantastic idea that any Frenchman ever put his mind to that extent, and proceed to the fact that every sport writer who covered the Dempsey-Carpenter assignment warned the citizens that the pair were simply no match."

Carpenter was so bad that he did his losing in secret in a ring pitched behind an old barn at Manhattan, L. I., but we finally prevailed upon them to put him in the ring with a few punching dummies. In these little exhibitions he showed himself to be even worse than we had suspected, and we all told the customers so day after day. By ring time the journalists were unanimous in predicting that Carpenter would not come up for round 4, and there were some who said Dempsey could knock him over whenever he chose to do so.

Nevertheless, the patrons turned out to the extent of $1,600,000, and, though they saw no light worth their money, they did not mind the worth in excitement. That seems to be their reason for going to expensive prize fights, anyway, for they always figure earnings of money by the occasion strikes their imagination.

The Tunney Well within Mr. Powers' experience as a sports writer.

Mr. Powers' experience as a sports writer is well within the range of the customers were told off the Sharkey-Scott fight in Florida, but attended nevertheless. Mr. Powers surely remembers the disclosure of the Boo-Boo Hoff funny papers which Gene Tunney signed within an hour before he entered the ring to fight with Dempsey. The Hoff funny papers were a sort of contract awarding Hoff a share of Tunney's earnings as champion in case he won the fight. They were negotiated by Abe Attell, the pillowman of the fake World Series of 1919, and Mr. Hoff openly described himself as an underworld character. Mr. Tunney told a bedtime story by which he planned. He said his manager, Uncle Will Gibson, was about to buy a New York and wanted a few thousand cash to close the deal and was all balled up with the urgent business of buying a house in New York. He said he was a professional gladiator out to fight in Philadelphia for an asset which then was worth several million dollars.

He did this in spite of the further fact that two nights before the fight in Chicago a notorious racketeer of the prohibition era made a secret call on Dempsey at his training quarters and offered him a commission of the Illinois fight committee.

Told Truth

If there ever was an age of skepticism in sports writing, it was the era of wonderful nonsense which led up to the great American panic.

Mr. Powers says Primo Carnera was puffed up into a fairy-book corgi, when a reference to the files will show that we all declared he could not fight a featherweight or light or middleweight in the old volumes of the boxing guide.

When Primo knocked out Jack Sharkey a lot of us expressed the opinion that Sharkey quit, but were unable to set forth our reasons for thinking so. We told the truth, but we were too busy to write it. The Delaney thing and the Delaney-Paulino thing, and a lot of us were constantly telling disenchanted truths about the baseball magnates and their business methods in dealing with the heroes of the so-called national game. We ridiculed the phony amateurism of the professional amateur tennis business, we pointed out the pro teams in intercollegiate football and we plainly identified those race tracks in Florida, Illinois, Ohio and elsewhere where were conducted by bootleggers.

Customers

But it never made any difference to the customers. They loved the excitement, and some of them used to write letters protesting against these efforts to tell the truth.

The sport writers of the moment have been, in the main, quite unromantic about the Louis-Schmeling fight, but with the contention that they are the ones who lit the torch I entirely disagree. The torch was burning fiercely. The torch was burning, and the customers were remembering seeing Mr. Powers himself carrying the same red flag back as 1925. But the customers didn't know it was the torch that was burning. They were remembering that it was a lynching or a house on fire and came a-runnin' from all directions.

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

THE MONTH OF BRIDES. They were rehearsing in the church auditorium for a wedding the following evening. I was leaving the building to answer a call to a hospital. An old man was sitting on the bench in front of the meeting house. I had seen him there on other summer evenings—had heard his soft voice in expressions of appreciation of the sunnier days and the laughter of children, the glory of the rising moon. A very lonely old man, loved ones all gone. He saw I was in a hurry Monday evening and still he ventured to use me if I were not having a wedding inside. I explained it was the rehearsal for the wedding the next evening.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

DAIRYING PROBLEMS STUDIED AT EATONTON

Stock Raisers and Farm Exports Outline State Milk Needs.

EATONTON, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—Farmers and agricultural leaders from throughout middle Georgia reviewed the growth of the dairy industry here today.

An all-day meeting, sponsored by the Putnam county farm board, attracted stock raisers and farm experts here where the dairy industry has developed rapidly during recent years. Dr. Milton P. Jarnagin, head of the animal husbandry division of the University of Georgia College of Agriculture, was one of several experts who addressed a gathering of dairymen.

Others on the program included Fred W. Bennett, associate professor of animal husbandry; Frank Fitch, extension dairyman at the college of agriculture; and B. G. Thompson, county agricultural agent of Putnam county.

Jarnagin urged utilization of Georgia feed crops for production of more livestock. He suggested that dairymen and livestock growers generally increase their acreage in hay, pasture, grazing and silage crops.

"With plenty of this roughage and some of the cottonseed meal we are shipping off to feed northern dairy herds, Georgia has a splendid chance to produce more milk and butter profitably," Jarnagin said.

Fitch complimented residents of Putnam county for their activity which made Putnam one of the first counties in the state to improve their dairy cattle through use of purebred stock. He emphasized the desirability of continuing to upbuild dairy herds in Georgia where numerous dairy herds in five years by good breeding and elimination of low producers.

Bennett told of the work of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association and advised organized dairy testing and record keeping.

Farm leaders at the meeting said Georgia produces only about half the dairy products consumed in this state. The farmers' co-operative creamery was visited during the day. The creamery has such a demand for its products that milk and cream have to be bought outside the state.

Tours of various dairy farms were made during the day. A barbecue dinner was served at noon.

STATE BRIEFS

RAIN AT McDONOUGH. McDONOUGH, Ga., June 19.—A severe thunderstorm with high winds brought rain to Henry county last night. In some fields near McDonough it was found today the soil was too wet for plowing while other farmers took advantage of the moisture to plant peas and corn. Roofs were damaged by the wind.

FARM FAMILIES AIDED. WASHINGTON, Ga., June 19.—Resettlement administration, supplying funds for crop production to 51 families in Wilkes county, also furnished directions this year for conduct of both the home and the farm, insisting on budgeting of farm expenses as well as on federal plans of farming, according to George W. Robinson, county supervisor.

The program was adjusted to local conditions by J. E. McDaniel, county agricultural agent. Mrs. Winnie House, county home demonstration agent; Miss Jessie Mize, resettlement home administrator, as well as the county supervisor.

ATTENDS ATHENS SESSION. WASHINGTON, Ga., June 19.—Miss Margaret Slaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Slaton, is one of 18 selected student leaders of the daily discussion group of the southern conference program now in session in Athens, under the deanship of Claud Nelson, Atlanta, an official of the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

AIR SERVICE LAUNCHED. WASHINGTON, Ga., June 19.—Air mail service was launched suddenly in Washington as Mrs. G. H. Bolton received the first letter delivered from the flying plane by Sergeant B. F. Belcher, of the United States marine corps, to his sister, as he continued his flight from Quantico, Va., to Montgomery, Ala., on official business.

BIBLE SCHOOL ENDS. WASHINGTON, Ga., June 19.—One hundred and seventy students enrolled in the daily vacation Bible school at First Baptist church for the past two weeks were in a second commencement program tonight. The program was a demonstration by boys and girls of the work they have followed in the Bible school.

DAHLONEGA POSTMASTER. DAHLONEGA, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—John Jones, brother of State Representative Fred Jones, of Lumpkin county, said today he had received notice of his appointment to the post office here. He succeeds Mrs. Cora Nichols.

EMANUEL POLITICS. SWANSON, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—The Emanuel county democratic executive committee ordered entries closed at noon. July 4. Robert Rountree qualified for state representative.

Five Gold Hunters Who Stole Ship Lose Boat in Chase, Are Captured

Globe-Girdling Hunt Has Been on Since April 2 When English Fishermen Headed for North Sea; Quintet Refuses to Surrender, So Craft Is Rammed.

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, June 19.—(AP)—Five English fishermen who ran away from Grimby April 2 with the trawler Girl Pat and dodged arrest on both sides of the Atlantic were held incommunicado in jail here tonight.

Their romantic search for pirate gold was at an end. A steamship of the British Guiana government rammed the Girl Pat and captured the defiant five when they refused to surrender.

Charges of marine theft have been placed against the seamen by an agent of Lloyd's.

The owners conducted a long and often-balked quest for the five, who left Grimby presumably bound for the regular fishing grounds in the North Sea but instead headed for Spain and then down the coast of Africa.

The boat followed a strange course, hurrying from ports before her papers could be checked. She went past the Salvage islands, where rumors said Captain Kidd hid a fortune in gold, to the west coast of Africa.

Ten days ago she bobbed up in to succeed J. B. Spivey, unopposed for the state senate. State Representative Alonso Woods qualified to succeed himself.

PARKER SPEAKS. NEWNAN, Ga., June 19.—Dave M. Parker, of Waycross, assistant attorney general of Georgia, spoke to the Newnan Civitan Club today. Although a candidate for the court of appeals, Judge Parker refrained from discussing politics and spoke on the subject of "The Chance for Service in Civic Clubs in Georgia."

COTTON FUNDS PAID. SPARTA, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—Mack Jordan, Hancock county agent, reported that he had paid out to farmers in the county approximately $27,500 in cotton subsidies.

PENTECOSTAL SESSION. WACROSS, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—The Florida conference of the Pentecostal Holiness church convened tonight at Hebardville for a three-day session.

NEW ADRIAN CHURCH. ADRIAN, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—Work has begun on a Methodist church here to replace the one destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The plans call for a large auditorium with six Sunday school rooms.

DELEGATE TO OREGON. BAINBRIDGE, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—Andrew Avery, superintendent of DeCATUR county schools, has been named a delegate to the National Education Association convention in Portland, Ore., June 25 to July 2.

JAMES A. JOHNSON SR. DIES AT WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON, Ga., June 19.—James Arvid Johnson Sr., 52, died at his home here Wednesday, following a stroke.

Mr. Johnson, who came to Washington from Tallapoosa county to enter business some 15 years ago, is survived by his wife, Mrs. Daisy L. Johnson and seven children, Mrs. Alva English, of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs. Eugene Denson, Atlanta; E. W. J. A. Jr., Cecil, Norris and Fred R. Johnson, of Washington; four sisters, Mrs. C. W. Rives, Washington; Mrs. J. D. English, Mrs. T. A. West, Mrs. B. F. West, all of Crawfordville; four brothers, W. E. Johnson, Philomath; Burrell and E. L. Johnson, Crawfordville, and A. S. Johnson, of Jefferson City, Tenn., also survive.

Funeral services were conducted by Dr. Durval V. Cason, assisted by Rev. A. G. McInnis, at First Baptist church yesterday afternoon. Interment was in the churchyard cemetery at Phillips Mill Baptist church, near the boyhood home of Mr. Johnson.

FEDERAL AID RUSHED TO DROUGHT FARMERS

Payments Due Are Being Speeded by Adjustment Administration.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, June 19.—Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, has been assured by Cully A. Cobb, director of the southern division of the AAA, that cotton price adjustment payments to farmers in the drought stricken areas of the state were being speeded as rapidly as possible.

The junior senator who had written to the adjustment administration asking that payments be speeded to farmers in drought infested areas of the southeast, was advised by Director Cobb that as of June 3 out of a total for the cotton belt of slightly in excess of $20,000,000 certified for payment Georgia was credited with receiving approximately $3,340,000, an amount exceeded only by two states—Mississippi and Texas.

Director Cobb said that the general accounting office in Georgia, which pre-audits the applications, had certified to the treasury department a larger number of applications than had been certified by any other state. In his letter to Senator Russell, Mr. Cobb said:

"The general accounting office in Georgia which pre-audits the applications, has certified to the disbursing office of the treasury a larger number of applications than has been certified by any other state. We are informed by the state office that they expect there may be as many as 140,000 applications filed for payment. As of June 3, 113,000 have been certified for payment. This means that applications are being examined and certified for payment immediately and that they are not remaining in the state office over two days following their receipt."

PRINCETON BIOLOGIST SUPPORTS 'SOCIALISM'

Dr. Edwin Conklin Urges Safe and Social Order.

ITACA, N. Y., June 19.—(AP)—Dr. Edwin G. Conklin, Princeton University biologist and president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, today advocated "democratic socialism as the safest and soundest social order."

He spoke at the semi-centennial at Cornell University of Sigma Xi, science honorary society, celebrated jointly by Sigma Xi and the American Association which moved its meeting here from Rochester for the ceremonies.

Dr. Conklin pointed out that the American Association for the Advancement of Science represents more than half a million personnel in affiliated scientific societies.

"Democratic socialism," he said, "seems to me the safest and soundest social order. It avoids the extremes of communism, fascism and individualism, and yet contains the elements of all these, and conforms to that inexorable biological principle of the necessity of preserving balance between contrasting principles or opposing forces."

"Fanatical extremes of individual freedom or of social regimentation has no successful prototypes in biological or human history. Democratic socialism best preserves this balance in the social order. It best preserves freedom of experimentation. The scientific method of learning is by experiment, trial and error and finally trial and success. There is no other path of progress. This is the great advantage of free government."

MRS. WILLIAM MERRITT PASSES AT JACKSON. JACKSON, Ga., June 19.—(AP)—Mrs. William H. Merritt died at her residence here yesterday after an illness of a week. She had been in declining health for a year but was stricken seriously last Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Merritt, the former Miss Mary Jane Strickland, was born in Paulding county, in 1876, the daughter of William Thomas Strickland and Mrs. Amanda Connel Strickland. She made her home in Jackson for 31 years. Prior to that time she had resided in Covington and Monticello, where her husband was engaged in the mercantile business. She was a member of the Jackson Baptist church.

Surviving are her husband; four daughters, Mrs. John W. McCraney, Leeds, Ala.; Misses Elizabeth, Merle and Lucy Evelyn Merritt, Jackson; two sons, W. S. Merritt, Atlanta; Dan Merritt, Jackson; two sisters, Mrs. J. J. Henley, Eastman; Mrs. J. F. Dupree, Griffin; four brothers, T. E. Strickland and W. H. Strickland, Griffin; R. W. Strickland, McDonough; B. H. Strickland, Luella; and several nieces and nephews.

STATE DEATHS
MRS. J. B. DUKE. McDONOUGH, Ga., June 19.—Last rites for Mrs. J. B. Duke, who died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. S. Elliott, in McDonough, yesterday afternoon, were held today from Bethany Baptist church. Rev. Gordon L. Brooks, pastor of the McDonough Baptist church, conducted the service and interment was in the churchyard.

Besides Mrs. Elliott, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. E. O. Hostet, Mrs. J. P. Elliott, of Locust Grove, and Mrs. P. C. Shaw, of Griffin; one son, W. A. Duke, Atlanta; three sisters, Mrs. C. S. Thompson, of Covington; Mrs. Nora Cawthon, of Atlanta; and Mrs. Lina Thompson, of Jackson; one brother, W. B. Kimbrell, of Jackson.

MISS KATE OMBERS. ROME, Ga., June 19.—Miss Kate Ombers, 82, and one of Rome's pioneer citizens, passed away yesterday at a local Rome hospital following an illness of several weeks. Miss Ombers, who was born and who spent her entire life in Rome, was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Ombers, original settlers of Rome. She was the oldest living member of the Rome First Presbyterian church.

The funeral was conducted this morning from the residence at 415 West First street. Dr. E. E. Leyburn, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church and Rev. John W. Melton, present pastor, officiated and interment was in Myrtle Hill cemetery.

BERNARD E. EDWARDS. ROME, Ga., June 19.—Bernard E. Edwards, 75, passed away at his residence on East Nineteenth street, Wednesday night following an illness of several months. Mr. Edwards was well known in this section and had resided in Rome for the last 65 years.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, McKelley Edwards and two daughters, Mrs. A. L. Jones and Mrs. Mary Sprague. All of them are in Rome. Mrs. Edwards and five great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral services were conducted from Pleasant Hope Baptist church this afternoon with interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Merely Inclose 10 Cents in Coin With Each Weekly Series

Answers are to be submitted in series of seven. A series consists of cartoons appearing each Sunday through Saturday consecutively. With each weekly series of seven answers enclose 10 cents in coin. This remittance is required under the rules of the contest, to qualify you for a prize and in return you will receive a master print of the week's featured cartoon, at the close of the contest.

THE RULES

- The "GREAT NAMES" contest is open to every reader of The Atlanta Constitution being a bona fide resident of either the state of Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama or Florida, with the exception of employees of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION and members of their families and with the further exception of any person who has won $1,000 or more in any previous newspaper contest.
- NOTE: You do not need to be a regular subscriber, you may purchase The Atlanta Constitution each day at your newsstand.
- Beginning Sunday, June 14, 1936, and continuing each day for 12 weeks, The Atlanta Constitution will publish a cartoon. Each cartoon will in some way suggest or represent a name. The name may be that of a person, city, state, nation, book, song or motion picture.
- The Atlanta Constitution will award a First Prize of $4,000 as part of $6,000 in prizes to the person or persons submitting the best or most appropriate name to each of the 84 cartoons and in all other ways conforming to these Official Rules. The person or persons submitting the best or most appropriate names to all 84 cartoons and otherwise complying with these Official Rules shall be eligible for First Prize. The person or persons submitting the next nearest correct solution to the 84 cartoons and otherwise complying with all these Official Rules shall be eligible for additional prizes in the order of the correctness of their answers.
- Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers. Just name the cartoons in accordance with the rules.
- In case of ties as many prizes will be reserved as there are persons tied before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution; that is, if two or more persons tie in submitting the correct or nearest correct names to the 84 cartoons, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them and will be awarded in the order of the correctness of such contestants (without cost) to a second and, if necessary, a third or fourth series of cartoons. In the event of final tie, a prize identical with that tied for will be awarded to each tying contestant.
- To expedite filling answers or solutions in this contest should be submitted as follows: At the end of each week, during which a series of seven cartoons will have been printed in The Atlanta Constitution, the contestant is requested to mail or bring the answers to the seven cartoons to the Great Names Editor, care of The Atlanta Constitution, in a unit. Solutions to this contest are to be submitted in a series, seven at a time. The answers to the cartoons printed during any week may be submitted during the following week.
- In order to qualify for a prize, the contestant is required to accompany each of the 12 series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin in payment for a special print of the week's featured cartoon, purchase of which is a condition for entering the contest. The Special Prints, suitable for framing, will be mailed to the contestant in one set, at the close of the contest.
- Any person upon entering the contest, and by the submission of answers, agrees to accept as final the decision of The Atlanta Constitution and the contest editor, on all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the making of the awards, and procedure and policy, with regard to the acceptance of submissions during the contest.
- Answer Forms to which no names are signed will not be considered nor will any claims to the ownership to such answers be recognized. The Atlanta Constitution will not be responsible for answers or communications unduly delayed or lost in transit either from the contestant to The Atlanta Constitution or from The Atlanta Constitution to the contestant.
- A contestant is permitted to submit as many sets of 84 solutions as he or she chooses, provided same are properly qualified, and each will be judged as a unit, but no person will be awarded more than one prize. When submitting additional sets of answers, all series must be identified as sets A, B, C, etc.

A Guest Column By H. J. Stegeman

PRINCETON, N. J., June 19.—Well, Ralph, I got your note saying you were going to be away on a vacation and wanted some help on a guest column, so here goes.

I am at Princeton, N. J., living in a hotel where they have water pitchers and large china accessories. There was a great track meet on here last week and, naturally, track was the talk of the town.

Tom Keane, from Syracuse, was here. He is a former professional sprinter who once won $3,500 in a foot race in some games in Scotland in the morning, bet it all on a race horse in the afternoon and lost. Lawson Robertson, head Olympic coach, was looking for prospects; Harry Hillman, from Dartmouth; Billy Hays, from Indiana, and a dozen others.

At practice one afternoon we saw a boy warm up for the high jump at six feet two and then take four easy jumps over the bar at six feet six with all his sweat clothes on. The record will go close to seven feet this summer.

By the way, did you ever know that a man by the name of Fitzpatrick once jumped seven feet four inches? It is in the record book today. He used heavy bell weights in his hands which he threw backwards as he left the ground. This was formerly an Olympic event, as was the standing broad jump with weights.

Princeton is a grand school. They have everything here that money can buy, but I prefer Georgia. A little later on I will be humming the song, "Two Tickets to Georgia," I fear.

Princeton has more southern boys in college than any other northern college. Several of their fine football players are from the south. Princeton boys go to the movies every night. They hiss the villain and cheer the hero. When the Metro-Goldwyn lion roars, they all roar in unison. I still prefer Georgia. Two tickets to Athens, Ga., please.

JAPS TRIM TIGER NINE.

We saw the Japanese team from Waseda University, Tokyo, Japan, beat Princeton in baseball the other day. Their great southpaw pitcher, who handed Yale a no-hit, no-run drubbing only two days before, worked the last three innings. He was very good, great change of pace.

The Jap center fielder made one of the greatest catches I have ever seen, either in college or professional ball. I had a chat with Professor Ferosmosha, the Waseda graduate manager, after the game. I told him I thought the center fielder made the greatest play I had ever seen. He replied, "And he isn't even a graduate student yet." His English was perfect, but do not yet know what he meant.

Late this afternoon we rode out to the Borden milk plant here. They milk 1,500 cows three times a day on a rotolactor. It is a merry-go-round on which a cow steps at milking time. As the machine, which holds about 60 cows at a time, rotates every cow gets a hot bath, is dried by electric fans and is milked quicker than you can bat an eye. They feed the cows vitamin diets to produce vitamin A, B, C or D milk. This is no bull story!

TO TEST BALTUSROL.

I am going to play a round of golf tomorrow at Baltusrol. I am going to find out why so many of the professionals did so poorly in the open.

I am continually impressed with the high regard which the east holds for the south in athletics now. Inter-collegiate football and the great track athletes from the south have changed lots of minds up here in the last 12 or 15 years. You Atlanta newspapermen have had no little part in this, and more power to you all.

Saw Jimmy Crowley. He says he is glad Georgia is playing Fordham next fall. Rex Enright used to be Jimmy's roommate at Notre Dame and Rex still seems to have some of Jimmy's ties.

WANTS TORNADO INSURANCE.

Ralph, when you have a chance, put me in touch with a dependable insurance man, one who sells all sorts of insurance. Tech plays us in Athens next fall, and I want some tornado insurance for November 28.

The two men whom everyone here asks about when we talk athletics in the south are Professor Sanford and Bill Alexander. The Yale people all ask about Harry Mehre.

I don't suppose we will play Yale again as long as Harry is at Georgia.

I must hit the hay now and rest up for that golf game. In closing, let me add the greeting an old mountaineer friend of mine always used—"How is all, or did I ask?"

FORREST EQUALS HIS OWN RECORD AT STAGG FIELD

Jesse Owens Jumps 25 Feet, 10 7-8 Inches to Pass Hamm's '28 Feat.

By Charles Dunkley.

CHICAGO, June 19.—(AP)—America's premier collegiate athlete, striving for bertha on Uncle Sam's Olympic team, smashed two world records and tied another in the preliminaries of the national collegiate track and field championships today.

The slim crowd of less than 2,000 sitting in sun-drenched Stagg field, saw Ohio State's black streak of lighting, Jesse Owens, holder of four world records, easily qualify in the four events in which he competed.

Archie Williams, of California, America's newest quarter-mile sensation, started the record breaking by running the 400 meters faster than any human has done before. Running with long, beautiful strides, the Pacific coast champion reeled off the distance in 46.1 knocking a tenth of a second off the mark hung up by Bill Carr, of Pennsylvania, in the 1932 Olympic record is 25 feet, 4 3-4 inches, coasted to the tape, indicating he had enough in reserve to have improved his performance if pressed at the finish.

The second world mark to fall was in the 110 meters high hurdles, with Forrest Towns, Georgia's timber-topping ace, clearing the sticks in 14.1 seconds. This eclipsed the recognized world's mark of 14.2 seconds made by Percy Beard, of Auburn, in 1924. Owens, in his dazzling performances today, bettered the Olympic record in the broad jump, sailing through space 25 feet, 10 7-8 inches on his second qualifying leap. While the listed Olympic record is 25 feet, 4 3-4 inches, by Edward B. Hamm, of Georgia Tech (Owens, a year ago leaped 26 feet, 8 1-4 inches in the Western Conference championship meet, an applied-for world's mark).

Owens also qualified in the 100 meters run, the 200 meters run and the 220 yards low hurdles. Through a mistake at the start, Owens was forced to travel 110 meters in the 100 meters event because officials started the runners from the high hurdles mark instead of the proper starting line. Owens galloped to victory in 11.2 seconds, breaking the tape six feet ahead of George Boone, of Southern California. He won his heat in the 200 meters run in 21.4 without extending himself and in the 220-yard hurdles, second within 30 yards of the finish, turned on the steam to take first place in 23.7 seconds.

On the basis of today's performances, Southern California, the defending champions, rates as the big threat to repeat. The Trojans qualified 18 men for the finals Saturday, with California next with eight and Wisconsin and Ohio State third with six each. Michigan and Stanford were fourth with five each.

Besides the world marks, two national collegiate records were shattered after the 278 young men from 80 universities and colleges finished their day's assault. Kenneth Carpenter, of Southern California, established a new meet mark in the discus with a toss of 167 feet, 11 1-2 inches to erase the record of 163 feet, 3 3-4 inches made by Henri Laborde, of Stanford, in 1932.

The other collegiate record was in the hop, step and jump final in which Herschel Neil, of Northwest State Teachers, Marysville, Mo., traveled 48 feet, 5 1-8 inches to beat the 47 foot, 10 1-2 inch old mark set four years ago by Lambert Redd, of Bradley Tech.

City Passenger Club Fetes Lipps Today

Joe Lipps, young Ty Ty, Georgia boxer who will meet Bob Hoover at Ponce de Leon Park Thursday night, will be guest of the Atlanta Passenger Club luncheon today at the old South Brewery.

Lipps, the Georgian, who Jack Dempsey declared "ring rowdy" in the city training for his bout with Hoover.

Wrestler Browning Dies in Rochester

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 19.—(AP)—Jim Browning, heavyweight wrestling champion, died here today.

Browning died in St. Mary's hospital late today from pulmonary embolism, condition of blood clots in the lung.

The wrestler underwent an exploratory operation about 10 days ago in connection with an abdominal ailment. His condition improved until three days ago when serious complications developed.

Moneta was the name given to silver coins by Romans. The money was coined in the temple of Juno Moneta in 80 B. C.

Louis Forgot To Duck, Says Trainer After Bout

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, June 19.—"He'll make a hell of a fight with me or anyone else in the world," said Mr. James J. Braddock, and that was the gist of the general tribute paid to Max Schmeling, the remounted Uhlán of Germany, after he went right-hand crazy and rocked Joe Louis into a state of coma in the twelfth round of their scheduled 15-rounder here tonight.

Louis left the ring with his face swollen to the size of a city ball and teeth trickling from his battered eyes. He didn't have much sense left in his head, Joe didn't, but he had enough to be heartbroken. He peered into a world full of pin wheels and sky-rockets and moaned:

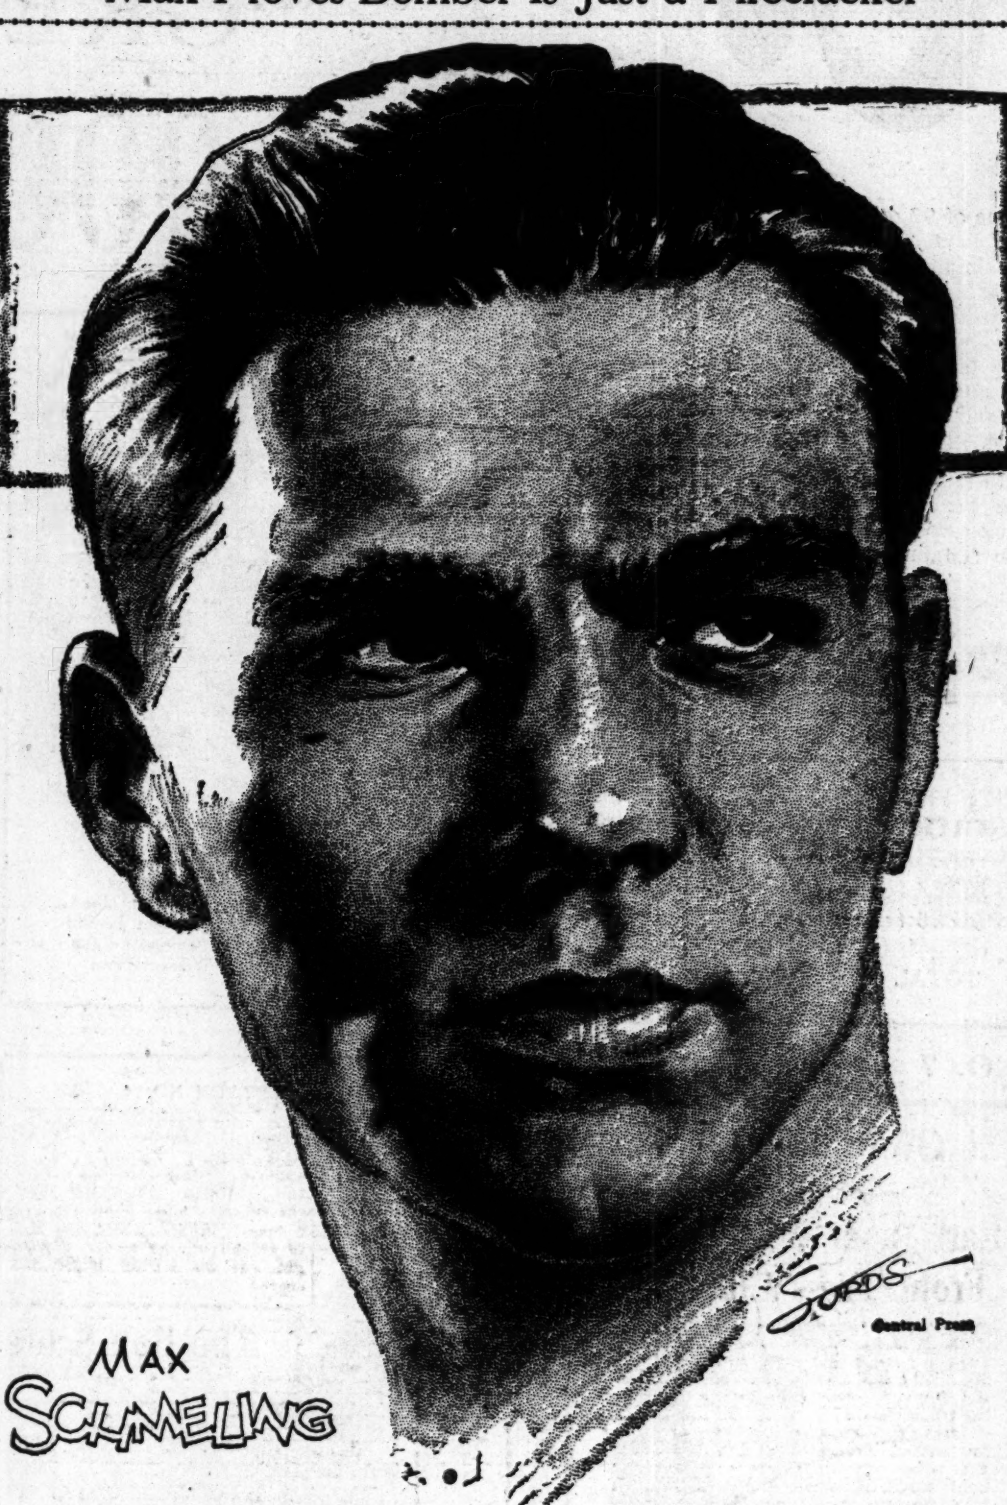

"I quit, I quit. I done everybody wrong." The last thing that Joe Louis actually did was quit. Out on his feet from the time Schmeling caught him with a short, jolting right in the fourth round, the "perfect human fighting machine" demonstrated that he had at least one cylinder in his motor that no one was ever sure about before—a great fighting heart. Jack Blackburn, his trainer, bore testimony to that. As he left the ring in the wake of his broken fighter, Blackburn said: "The boy was out on his feet all the time after Max hit him with that first right. He just forgot to duck. From the fourth round on, he fought by instinct. And what a fight he made! I never seen nobody gamer."

Max Proves Bomber Is Just a Firecracker

Max Schmeling added another chapter to boxing history last night when he staged one of the greatest upsets in the game to flatten Alabama's highly-touted Brown Bomber, Joe Louis, in the 12th round at the Yankee stadium before 40,000 spectators. The German was on the short end of the 10-1 odds. For his victory he earned the right to meet Champion Jimmy Braddock for the heavyweight title in September.

German Unleashes A Savage Attack To Flatten Negro

"Bomber" Is Floored in Fourth and Never Recovers From Blow; 40,000 See Dope Upset.

By Alan Gould.

Associated Press Sports Editor. YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Brutal, battered and bewildered for the first time in his professional career, his youthful face round in a wonderment that was reflected by the roar of Joe Louis crumpled tonight and was knocked out by the veteran who didn't have a chance, Max Schmeling, of Germany.

There was dynamite and drama inside the roped arena under somber black skies, while a crowd officially placed at scarcely 40,000 looked on in alternate amazement and admiration but Louis furnished neither as he toppled to the floor, a badly wounded young negro, and was counted out in the twelfth round match.

COOL CONFIDENCE.

Fighting with cool confidence from start to finish, and firing a right hand that seldom missed its target, Schmeling completely upset expectations, the predictions of just about 100 per cent of the ringiders, and Louis. The German veteran floored the negro for a short cut in the fourth round, battered him unmercifully from there on and put a finish to his spectacular victory near the end of the twelfth round.

Louis, his eyes blinking, his face swollen and his efforts futile, virtually collapsed after taking two terrific smashes to the head. Staggering along the ropes, he was caught by another long right, a punch that barely connected, and crumpled to the floor. The negro, shaking his head slowly, rolled to his side and heard the count of "ten" for the first time in his ring career.

The Brown Bomber, who had swept all before him in a meteoric two-year rise to the top of the fist world, who had been compared to the prize ring's all-time great and rated invincible among present-day fighters, was blasted to defeat in an upset that simply staggered the fight critics.

MAX "WASHED UP."

Schmeling, 30-year-old veteran and one-time heavyweight champion, was not supposed to have a chance. They said he was "washed up" and no match for the dynamic young negro. But the only explosion tonight was set off by the smashing power of the German's right hand as Schmeling gained a fluster triumph comparable to Jimmy Braddock's upset victory for the championship just a year ago over Max Baer.

Thus, as a consequence of the ring's two most startling form reversals in heavyweight boxing, Schmeling won the right to fight Braddock for the title and the chance to be the first man to regain the throne. The German and the Jersey Irishman probably will fight in the Yankee stadium this September.

The collapse of Louis was as complete as it was shocking. Those who had bet on him on the pedestal of invincibility. From start to finish the youthful negro not only failed to display his accustomed punching power and boxing skill, but his chocolate chin was a target for Schmeling's vicious right-hand thrusts.

The fight proved Louis can "take it" beyond the point of doubt, but the one-time "bomber" absorbed terrific punishment for the better part of 12 rounds.

LOUIS IS BAFLED.

Baffled by the bobbing and weaving of the German veteran, who in most of his attempts to penetrate Max's crouching defense, Louis was equally unsuccessful in trying to block or duck the right hands that led to his downfall.

The negro never recovered from the right-hand smash, full to the side of the head, that sent him to the floor for the first time in the fourth round. He had been making no particular progress during the first three rounds but neither Louis nor the crowd was prepared for the ferocity of that telling blow.

While the crowd roared and leaped to its collective feet, Louis half spun from the force of the blow and sank to the floor. On his down face was a look of the most complete bewilderment imaginable. They had told him this couldn't happen but it had and he didn't know what to do about it. He was hurt and dazed but instead of taking the count that greater experience would have dictated, Joe leaped back to his feet and waded right back into more trouble.

There was no official count for this fourth-round knockdown but it was the beginning of the end. They said afterward that the blow had sprained the thumb of both hands, in the same round, but the fact was that the negro boy was so badly shocked that he could not survive Schmeling's subsequently well-timed, well-directed blasts.

LOUIS IS TARGET.

From the fourth to the 12th round, with a few exceptions, Louis was a mark for Schmeling's right and benefit himself of the poise, power and punch that had carried him through in un-

Heart Attack Fatal to Tom O'Rourke

YANKEE STADIUM, NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Tom O'Rourke, connected with the fight game for upwards of a half century as a manager, promoter and official, dropped dead tonight in Max Schmeling's dressing room at the Yankee stadium an hour before the Schmeling-Louis fight. He was 53 years old.

The white-haired veteran suffered a sudden heart attack while sitting on a stool in the German's room. He had gone in to wish Schmeling "good luck." Medical assistance was summoned but O'Rourke was dead before any attempts to revive him could be begun.

O'Rourke served as a deputy boxing commissioner, also as a judge at the ringside, in recent years. He was the target for criticism for his findings in favor of Jimmy McLaughlin in one of the latter's bouts with Barney Ross.

beaten professional career, until tonight.

Schmeling took no chances of having the tide turned against him. In no hurry, but obviously in complete command, Max bobbed and weaved, crouched and clinched, between sudden right-hand wallops that jolted Joe to his heels. Once, in the seventh round, it looked as though the fog around the negro's head was clearing. He punched with more earnestness and effect, sufficiently so to win the round, but Max took everything his rival had to witness the slightest sign of folding.

LOUIS A CERTAINLY.

The outcome was as trailing climax to a fight that couldn't be "built up" because Louis was such a certainty to win and which failed to draw up to expectations from that account, among others. Most of the estimated 40,000 spectators, who contributed to a "gate" of $547,211, came with only one object in view—to see Louis perform a laboratory experiment in fighting brilliance—but they remained to witness one of the greatest comebacks, as well as upsets, in ring history.

They remained to give an ovation to the man who came back, the black-haired "Schmidt" who didn't have much to say beforehand, who didn't have the color as well as the punch, they said, to match Louis. Considered to have been pretty well "washed up" two years ago when he left this country, following beatings at the hands of Max Baer and Steve Hamas, Schmeling came back to the accompaniment of a roar.

The German not only took everything Louis had to offer without once being close to a knockdown, but he actually was smiling and "washed up" two years ago when he left this country, following beatings at the hands of Max Baer and Steve Hamas, Schmeling came back to the accompaniment of a roar.

Mike Jacobs Plans Maxie-Braddock Go.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Mike Jacobs, who staged the Max Schmeling-Joe Louis heavyweight bout tonight, said he plans to match Schmeling with James J. Braddock for the world's heavyweight title this fall.

"I've got Schmeling signed and I can get Braddock," he said. "I'll probably put the show on here although I do not think New York did right by tonight's show by any means."

Crackers Take Double-Header From Little Rock, 7-3, 12-1

PARKER'S RALLY DEFEATS REESE IN FOUR-SET TEST

Atlanta Eliminated in National Clay Courts Tourney.

CHICAGO, June 19.—(P)—Frankie Parker, of Milwaukee, and Robert Riggs, of Los Angeles, the first and sixth seeded stars, stroked their way into the singles semi-finals of the national clay courts tennis championship at the River Forest Tennis Club with comparative ease today.

Parker, runner-up last year and titleholder in 1933, got underway slowly in his match with Billy Reese, of Atlanta, dropping the first set 3-6, but from that point on, with the exception of a stubborn stand by the southern star in the fifth game of the fourth set, Parker won without much trouble. The final result was 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2. In the hotly-contested fifth game of the fourth set the count was deuced 13 times.

Riggs eliminated Charles Harris, of West Palm Beach, Fla., 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1.

Tomorrow, Parker, who is a hot favorite to win the title, tangles with John McDermid, of Chicago, No. 4 seeded player. Riggs takes on Vernon John, of the University of Southern California, seeded 12th.

It was a busy day for Riggs, who in addition to his singles match engaged in two doubles tilts with Wayne Rabin, of Hollywood, Cal., to reach the semi-finals. They beat Al Carlier and John Clark, of Chicago, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, and then whipped Norman Bickel and Norbert Burgess, of River Forest, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Hamel's Personality Chart

Save Cracker Autographs And Learn About Players

Peck Hamel is slowly regaining his strength following an operation for appendicitis. The Cracker center fielder underwent operation after he was suspended by Manager Moore "for infraction of the training rules."

In nine years in the minor leagues, Hamel has never hit below .300. He has been regarded as the best center fielder and lead-off man in the Southern league.

When Hamel fully recovers, there is a chance that he will be reinstated by Moore and given another chance, in view of the fact that he was a sick man when Moore sent him home from Chattanooga.

At the present, however, Hamel is taking things easy. He is getting his weight back and hopes to be well enough to play again by mid-July. Hamel's handwriting analysis follows:

Handwriting Analysis.

By Elaine.

Peck Hamel's handwriting shows that he has ability. He is enthusiastic. Sometimes indifferent. He gets into difficulties through an unsatisfied curiosity, but by using his wit he gets out of them. His talent is great. His handwriting shows a fondness for people, crowds, the gay life. There is loyalty to friends and to country. His handwriting reveals a broad sense of humanitarianism as well as giving him the mental ability to work out problems for himself. The wide formation of the letters adds strength to his purpose. His signature says there is no reason why Peck Hamel should not win his spurs as a really great baseball player, if he really put his mind and ability to it.

PELS SCORE RUN IN 7TH INNING TO NIP VOLS, 2-1

Bill Thomas Lets Nashville Down With Only Six Hits.

NEW ORLEANS, June 19.—(P)—The New Orleans Pelicans, behind the airtight six-hit pitching of Thomas, eked out a 2-1 victory over Nashville here tonight.

Thomas was in command throughout while his mates bunched blows in two innings to gain the necessary winning margin.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., June 19.—(P)—Frank Petticoles and Dick Lashan combined to hold the Barons to four hits tonight at the Chattanooga Lookouts took the first game of the series, 4-1.

Chattanooga bunched its hits early off Arthur Jones, pitching the Barons' starter for nine innings in all. Overman replaced Jones in the eighth and held the 'Lookouts' hitless.

Lookouts took the first game of the series, 4-1. Petticoles was forced to retire in the third with a blister on his hand.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 19.—(P)—Lynn Nelson, Memphis right hander, held the Knoxville Smokies to eight scattered hits here tonight to help the Chickasaws score a 3-0 victory.

Bill Beckman, Knoxville hurler, allowed only nine hits, but the Chickasaws were able to bunch their blows enough in two innings to out-score the Smokies.

The loss broke Knoxville's winning streak of four games, their longest in two seasons.

"Our Boy, Joe" Proves Disappointing.
LAFAYETTE, Ala., June 19.—(UP)—It was a disappointed and unbelieving crowd of plantation negroes who trudged home tonight after gathering here to listen to the radio description of "our boy Joe's" fight.

The darkies, for the most part, just shook their heads in an uncomprehending daze when they heard the referee count ten in the twelfth round over the negro lad who was born—Joe Barrow Louis—on a plantation near here and with whom they had chopped cotton before Joe went north to Detroit.

The negroes, however, were loyal to Joe even in his defeat, and Joe's aged uncle, Albert Barrow, said:

DREWRY'S ALE
Canada's Pride—Since 1877
America's Pride—Since 1933

From Hudson's Bay to Corpus Christi

Drewry's Ale has now swept the American continent. You can buy it practically anywhere from the Arctic Circle to the Gulf of Mexico. And everywhere it is so much the favorite that you can't get any odds against it.

A new generation is evidently leaning very strongly toward the drinking of Drewry's Ale. Probably because of its strong, heavy body but mellow taste.

Drewry's Ale is now made in the U. S. A. in the same fine, mellowed product with the same unvarnished process as the Drewry's Ale that has been known in Canada since 1877.

Call for it today, at any good drinking place in America.

WEST IS GREAT IN RELIEF ROLE TO TAKE FIRST

Rookie Relieves Durham in 4th and Holds Pels Runless.

By Ben Epstein.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 19.—Every time the Atlanta Crackers come to Little Rock they draw large crowds, tonight an audience estimated at 5,000 checked in and as usual checked out with the customary disappointments.

The story of the same ending, Atlanta won a double-header, 7 to 3 and 12 to 1.

Little Rock gained a new lease on life after drubbing Nashville three straight, but the chain of wins ended tonight. Incidentally, it was the Crackers' sixth win in seven games with the Frothro pack.

The second was a classic in clout. Moore's marauders collected 18 hits off Pichers Lee Rogers, Spike Hunter and Bob Porter. Eight of the blows went for extra bases. Chatham hammered out two doubles. Hooks took a triple and Richards a home run. Hill hit a double.

MAILHO IS STAR.
Special mention is accorded Emil Mailho, Moore's new center fielder. Emil led the attack in both games. He mauled out three for five in the first and four for five in the second.

Meanwhile altitudinous Al Williams breezed along like a yacht on East Lake. He took his time behind the big lead and was as he pleased.

The clubs play the third of the set Saturday night. Jennings Pointexter, left-hander, likely will go for Little Rock.

Ralph West, rookie right-hander, stopped the Travelers cold when he stepped in and relieved Bobby Durham in the fourth with the bases full and two down and Campy Burns and Ruchler.

He dominated the situation from then on and yielded only two hits in the 5-13 innings he hurled; not a single Traveler got as far as second base except in the seventh, when Cecil Treht doubled and went to third on a wild pitch.

The Crackers opened the second game in their usual businesslike batting by clubbing in three runs on three extra base hits and an outfield fly in the first inning.

Mailho greeted Lee Rogers with a sizzling triple down the left-field line. He trotted home when Hill hit a double to the same terrain. Then Hooks blew one to deep left for another triple scoring Hill.

Eddie Moore's mad Crackers rushed Rogers to the wash, bombarding him for 8 runs and 7 hits in 1-13 innings. Then they continued the carnage against Spike Hunter, who relieved.

Richards and Chatham singled and both men advanced on Al Williams' sacrifice. Mailho singled, scoring Richards and Chatham. Hill grounded to Griffiths, who tossed to Andrus to trap Mailho, but Andrus then threw the ball wild when Emil was caught in a chase. Mailho scored and Hill went to second on the error. Hooks slugged out his second triple and Hill scored.

HOME RUNS AND GASHOUSE GANG IN 7-5 TRIUMPH

Diz Beats Giants for 13th Win; Reds Conquer Bees.

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean got by one bad inning today, and for the rest of the way had the Giants completely in hand as the St. Louis Cardinals turned in a 7 to 5 victory, marking Dean's 13th win of the season against two setbacks.

The triumph boosted the Cardinals' National league lead to two full games over the idle Chicago Cubs, who were rained out in Brooklyn.

Although the "great one" allowed the Giants ten hits, and weakened in the sixth to let five New York runs across, he didn't have to apply pressure after the first two innings, when Bucky Medwick and Young Stutz Martin each hit homers, each with two mates on base, to give the Cards a six-run lead.

Lee Schumacher, who started for the Giants, was taken out after two innings and replaced by Clyde Castleman, but he got only as far as the sixth, before Manager Bill Terry took him out. Three other Giant pitchers saw action before the battle ended.

The Cincinnati Reds brought their heavy artillery into play to hand the Bees an 8 to 4 setback in the current series opener.

Alex Kampouris' circuit clout with two mates on in the sixth led a four-run rally in that inning, by the Reds. They followed it up with two more in the eighth, when Gene Scott, who had relieved Wild Bill Hallahan as the Cincinnati pitcher, pounded out a four-bagger with one on. Catcher Ernie Lombardi wound up the slug-ging with a homer in the ninth.

GA-FLA. LEAGUE ATTENDANCE UP

AMERICUS, Ga., June 19.—Heavy attendance at Georgia-Florida league games continued throughout the second month of play, figures released from the office of Hollis Fort, president of the league, revealed today.

Albany continued to top the list in total attendance during that period with 6,678 paid admissions, averaging 445 persons per game. Americus followed closely with 6,616, or 441 per game, while Moultrie with 6,580, Tallahassee with 5,919, Ocala 4,748 and Thomasville with 3,904, came in order.

Americus, however, dominated the field in gate receipts, taking in $2,273.45 during the month. Albany, Moultrie, Tallahassee, Cordele and Thomasville followed in the order mentioned.

Fort reported excellent attendance throughout the entire league with the exception of Cordele and Thomasville. The latter, with a team in second place in standings, foots the list in all departments, including total attendance, average attendance, average receipts and total gate receipts.

Haas, Munger Gain Finals at Memphis

1934 Champion Beats Morris, 2-1; Texan Conquers Smith, 5-4; Title Match Today.

By Kenneth Gregory.
 MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 19.—(AP)—Freddie Haas, a slender young golfer from New Orleans, and Jack Munger, sun-tanned native of Dallas, Texas, fought their way into the finals of the southern amateur golf tournament today.

Survivors of a fast field of 32, Haas and Munger are scheduled to battle for the 1936 championship at 36 holes tomorrow over the Memphis Country Club's tricky course.

Haas, the 1934 southern champion, advanced to the final round by defeating young Johnny Morris, of Birmingham, Ala., 2 and 1, while Munger completed the semi-final rout of the Alabama contestant in eliminating Warren Smith Jr., of Gadsden, 5 and 4.

ATTACK ON PAR.
 The 20-year-old Haas, captain of the Louisiana State University golf team, and expected to be the intercollegiate champion, reached the title round through a consistent record on par, including a new qualifying record of 130 strokes for the southern's 36-hole preliminary play.

Observers rated the Louisiana a slight favorite over Munger, who had lost in two of his early-round matches. The final battle loomed as a close duel, however, for Munger flashed brilliant form in conquering Smith, being one over par for 14 holes.

Munger expected to encounter plenty of trouble against Smith, won with ease. After winning the first three holes, the Texan gradually increased his lead to 5 up through the ninth, and closed out the match at the 14th.

The route to the finals was tough for Munger, while Haas was not expected to have a hard time. In his first-round match against Junie Ruxbaum, a 16-year-old Memphis kid, Munger was forced to battle 13 holes before triumphing over the local representative. He took a 4 and 3 decision from Mack Brothers, of Nashville, in the second round, but won 1 and 1 in the third.

Ed Heron, of Chattanooga and Houston, Texas, missed a three-foot putt on the last hole.

In the other bout, Monie Grimes, of Memphis, 6 and 5, and Tommy Bolt, of Shreveport, 4 and 3, in his first two matches and eliminated Billy Hovey, of Houston one-time runner-up of the national amateur, and a former Walker cup player, 3 and 2, in the quarter-final frame.

YOUNG FIGHTERS MEET THURSDAY
 Youngsters who like to punch it with their opponents will be featured in the main event and the semi-final of the all-star boxing card to be offered next Thursday night at the ball park.

Bob Hoover, who meets Joe Lipps in the defense bout, has just celebrated his twenty-first birthday. He has been fighting two years and in his last seven fights he has won four by knock-out and three by decisions. He has not been beaten this year.

Lipps, the Georgia heavyweight, is only 24 and has made showing in the east and is so anxious to make a good record in his debut here that he is putting in a week's serious training here before the fight. He is working out daily at the Georgia Power Company gym.

Harvard Crew Beats Yale by 5 Lengths
 NEW LONDON, Conn., June 19.—(AP)—A favored Harvard shell swept to victory over Yale late today in the annual four-mile race on the River Thames between the ancient college rivals.

Harvard won by five lengths. Harvard led all the way, holding a length lead at the three-mile mark and gradually increasing it in the last mile. A quarter mile from home, the red boat lifted its bow and opened up five lengths between it and the Eli boat by the time they hit the finish line at Bartlett's cove.

Atlantans Compete In Sea Island Shoot
 SEA ISLAND, Ga., June 19.—Mrs. Donald McClellan and Oliver M. Healey, both of Atlanta, tied for high scores in the informal club shoot held at the Sea Island Gun Club Sea Island, Ga. Among other Georgians participating were Mrs. Oliver Healey, Charles Nunnally, Clark Howell Jr., of Atlanta; Walter Sams, of Athens; H. H. Hardin, of Forsyth; and Mrs. Alfred W. Jones, of Sea Island.

GOMEZ STEADY AS YANKS BEAT BENGALS, 5 TO 2

Cleveland Stops Washington Streak With 9-7 Win; White Sox Cop.

DETROIT, June 19.—(AP)—The cannoning New York Yankees boosted their American league lead to five games today and sank the Tigers to a fifth-place tie by clubbing out a 5-to-2 victory in the current series opener.

Given fine support afield and at bat by his mates, Lefty Gomez returned to winning form with an eight-inning performance, chalking up his seventh victory of the season, but only his first in his last three starts.

The defeat was the seventh straight for the Tigers, their longest losing streak in three seasons.

Gomez was opposed at the start by Elden Auke, but he was unable to get farther than the Yanks' four-run spree in the opening frame, which was featured by George Selkirk's homer with a mate on base. Vic Sorrell, who relieved Auke, held the Yanks to seven hits in the last eight innings.

Lou Gehrig was again the spearhead of the Yankee attack, getting three doubles to run his consecutive game hitting streak to 18 straight contests.

A single by Mule Haas with one on in the thirteenth inning broke up a pitchers' duel between Vernon Kennedy and Bill Dietrich and gave the White Sox a 5-to-4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in the opening game of the series.

George Blalocker pitched to only one batter and received credit for the Cleveland Indians' 9-to-6 victory over Washington.

Blalocker was one of four hurlers on the mound for Cleveland. Pete Appleton, who was chalked up with the loss, was relieved by Monty Wright.

After the Senators scored three runs in the sixth to go ahead, 5 to 3, Blalocker replaced the Indians starter, Thornton Lee. He pitched to Chapman, who forced Lewis for the third out.

Cards Purchase Rhem From Vols
 ST. LOUIS, June 19.—(AP)—Branch Rickey, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, today announced the purchase of Charles Flint Rhem, right-hand pitcher, from Nashville, the Southern association.

The purchase price was not announced. Rhem, a former Cardinal, will join the National league leaders within two weeks.

Last year he was with Syracuse of the International league. Acquisition of Rhem brings the Cardinals to full strength—22 players.

Miss Bazemore Weds Mrs. Smith To Honor M. David Jackson Mrs. W. F. Melton In College Park

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Bazemore and M. David Jackson, of East Point, was impressively solemnized yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bazemore, in College Park. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Walter C. Robinson, pastor of College Park Methodist church. A musical program was presented by Miss Ethel Gibson, violinist; Miss Ruth Hill, pianist; and Almon Hendricks, vocalist.

A graceful arrangement of palms formed the altar background and baskets filled with white gladioli beautified the altar, and four-branched candelabra held white tapers. Miss Frances Bazemore was the bride, and Miss Mary Elizabeth, daughter of the bride, was the bridesmaid. The bride wore a gown of white lace over white satin, the bodice featuring long sleeves and a V-neck front and a stand-up collar. The skirt fitted the bride's figure and flared at the hemline into a short train. Her finger-tip tulle veil was worn coronet fashion, and was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried valley lilies and bride roses.

Mrs. Bazemore, mother of the bride, was gowned in lilac lace over satin, and her flowers were pink rosebuds. Mrs. W. M. Jackson, mother of the groom, wore a gown of blue chiffon and her shoulder bouquet was of pink rosebuds.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Bazemore entertained at an informal reception for the bride and groom. Miss Willene Yow kept the bride's book. Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames G. R. Shockey, Phillip Manning and Misses Evelyn Flowers, Josephine Swelling, Mary Virginia Thomas, Martha Holt and Louise Dorsey.

The bride's table in the dining room was overlaid with a handsome lace cloth and centered with a four-tiered wedding cake embedded in flowers. Mr. Jackson and his bride left for a wedding trip to Chattanooga, Tenn. The bride traveled in a two-piece suit of brown net worn with a Leghorn hat and brown accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of pink rosebuds and valley lilies. On their return they will reside at 208 Jefferson avenue in East Point.

Cascade O. E. S.

The celebration of the sixth birthday anniversary of Cascade Chapter No. 274, O. E. S., was held at the hall in the Cascade Masonic hall with past matrons, past patrons and charter members as honor guests. Mrs. Carrie Roberts, past matron, arranged the impressive service in which honor guests took part. Mrs. Mel Hood, charter member, placed the birthday cake on the altar. Mrs. Genevieve Andrews, first wife of a founder and "mother" of the chapter, lighted the six candles, and Mrs. Louis Vrono, Mrs. LeVert Mitchell, accompanied by Mrs. Dora Hamilton, sang "The Good Star." Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Hamilton were made honorary members of the chapter, and were presented certificates of honorary membership by Mrs. Genevieve Andrews. Mrs. Andrews was given a china plate in appreciation of her work. An electric star was presented Mrs. Vrono by Mrs. Carrie Roberts. The "Good Deeds" chairman, Mesdames Lucy Power, Winnie Garmon and Annie Corry, made reports.

Mrs. Irene Spilrin, chairman ways and means, sponsored a cakewalk for benefit of the chapter, and cakes were won by Mrs. LeVert Mitchell, Miss Peggy Head and Mrs. Chappela, associate matron. Center Hill chapter. The chapter will close for July and August but activities will continue. Mrs. Lucy Power will sponsor a bridge luncheon at an early date and a picnic will be given for members, their families and friends.

Introduced were Mrs. W. A. ## News of Gate City Told in Paragraphs

Bar examinations for candidates in Fulton county will be held on June 24, next Wednesday, before Judge Virgil B. Moore, of Fulton county superior court, it was announced yesterday by J. Walton Simmons, clerk of court.

Dr. Louis D. Newton will speak Sunday morning during the Druid Hills hour over radio station WGST at 9:15 o'clock on "He Died Climbing." Musical features for the program will be provided by Raymond Nixon, baritone, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. John B. Felder.

"The Basis of Righteousness" will be the subject of Dr. Louis D. Newton's sermon at the Druid Hills Baptist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday evening he will preach on "Conquerors Through Christ." The evening service will be broadcast over radio station WATL.

Descendants of Francis Marion Wellborn and Louisa Elizabeth Wellborn will hold their annual reunion Sunday, June 28, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phillips at Redan.

County commissioners addressed Atlanta Legionnaires at the weekly luncheon yesterday at the Ansley hotel. Many ex-servicemen and county judges were guests. Frank Fling was master of ceremonies.

J. L. McCallum, evangelist, tomorrow night will conduct the first of a series of services to be held in the tent at Jonesboro and Brown's Mills roads, in Lakewood Heights, according to announcement yesterday.

John M. Crosby, 47, of a Ridge avenue address, was bound over under $100 bond for the city criminal court yesterday following his arraignment in recorder's court on livery charges. He was arrested while allegedly writing "bug" tickets.

William B. Hartfield, member of the Fulton county delegation in the Georgia legislature, yesterday was being further importuned to offer as a candidate in the municipal primary, September 2. A group of seventh ward citizens met at the home of C. Cunningham, 604 Holderness street, and asked Hartfield to offer.

Ed Wallace appealed a 12-month sentence imposed on him in criminal court yesterday for possession of 64 gallons of liquor and bond was set at $1,000.

Robert Joe Haney yesterday was charged with violation of the state laws regarding narcotics. Fulton county grand jury returned the indictment.

J. W. Dickson, living opposite the athletic field of the Warren Company, on Fair street, yesterday sought an injunction to prevent athletic events at the field. He contended the noise annoyed him and Mrs. Dickson. Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton county superior court, refused a temporary injunction, but made the case returnable today.

Bill Smith today is a free man and all because a fellow prisoner testified as to his good character, when Smith was tried on robbery charges. George Meredith, in the city jail now awaiting trial on other charges, told a jury in Fulton county that Smith's character was good. The jury deliberated only 20 minutes.

Ebenezer Methodist church, three miles from Conyers, will hold a homecoming celebration tomorrow, it was announced yesterday. All members of the church, which more than 100 years old, are invited to attend.

Mrs. Elaine Neese Bentley, of 537 Boulevard, N. E., yesterday was awarded a verdict of $1,613 because of the death of her son from a pistol shot wound. She held a $1,000 double

MRS. CONNOR WRIGHT DIES AT CAVE SPRING
CAVE SPRING, Ga., June 19.—Mrs. Connor W. Wright, 80 years of age, died last night following a short illness. She was the oldest native resident of Cave Spring and was one of the most prominent and popular women in Floyd county.

The funeral will take place at the home of Douglas Cox tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. Hill Barrett officiating, assisted by Rev. Ira D. Harris, Rev. A. A. Tilly and Rev. J. V. Jones. Burial will follow at the Cave Spring cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Wright are three sons, Augustus Rich of Los Angeles; William Connor, of Philadelphia; and Horace Edward, of El Paso; three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Kelly, of Birmingham; Mrs. M. L. Hollingsworth, of Graymont-Summit and Cave Spring; and Miss Dorothy Wright, of Cave Spring.

Mrs. Wright was the daughter of Augustus Rich, a native of Heidelberg, Germany, and Mrs. Rich, who was a native of Switzerland, Germany. They were among the pioneer settlers of Cave Spring and spent their lives here.

WHALE BONES UNEARTHED.
Huge whale bone, yellow with age and believed to be hundreds of years old, recently were unearthed in a garden in the heart of Juneau, Alaska.

PREACHER MUST PAY, CAROLINA JUDGE SAYS
RALEIGH, N. C., June 19.—(AP)—Superior Court Judge M. V. Barnhill said today the Rev. E. H. Gattis, 44, and married, must go to jail unless he pays Hoke M. Paige $18,000 heart balm or posts a $20,000 bond while the case is pending.

The announcement came after Judge Barnhill had refused to set aside a verdict returned yesterday which declared the clergyman's adultery of alienating the affections of Mrs. Katherine R. Paige, 32, blond and attractive.

At the trial, it was brought out that the Rev. Mr. Gattis had approximately $25,000 worth of property he owned jointly with his wife.

The minister, a realtor, service station operator, former North Carolina State College football player and former Raleigh motorcycle policeman, was ordered to pay Paige $7,000 actual and $11,000 punitive damages.

Attorneys for the Rev. Mr. Gattis said they intended to appeal the case in the supreme court.

5 BELIEVED KILLED IN COLLAPSE OF HOUSE
NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—Four or possibly five persons were believed to have lost their lives and a dozen others were injured, several of them critically, in the collapse of part of an eight-story apartment house under construction in the Bronx.

Several hours after the accident only one body had been removed but policemen and firemen after a survey of the wreckage said that at least three and possibly four other bodies remained under the debris. They saw no possibility that those not accounted for at that time still might be alive.

Giuseppe Lanzafam, 65, was the workman whose body was first removed.

Joseph Vansagion, of Pleasantville, N. Y., and Vincent Di Stefano, 64, of the Bronx, were released from situations so precarious that the last rites of the Catholic church were administered to them while they still were in the wreckage.

RICHARD SESSIONS DIES AT HOME IN DECATUR
Richard Sessions, 67, retired Atlanta businessman, died at about 11 o'clock last night, following a heart attack at his home at 244 West Benson street, Decatur.

He is survived by his wife, H. M. Patterson & Son will announce funeral arrangements.

"MISSING LINK" FOUND.
The prehistoric skull of a young female creature, at a stage of development half-way between the higher apes and man, has been found at Modjokerto, Java, it is reported. The discovery is said to be of the same period as the famous Java "ape-man" found by Dr. Eugene Dubois in 1891.
